REDS MAKE ALL-OUT BID FOR BERLIN

Japanese Hangings Delayed

War Criminals Get Reprieve

TOKYO — (AP) — Wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and six other top Japanese warmakers won an eleventh hour respite today from the hangman's noose.

General Douglas MacArthur said they would "certainly not" be executed until the Supreme court of the United States has acted on appeals by two of the condemned men.

The next scheduled meeting of the Supreme court is Dec. 6.

(If the Supreme court rejects the appeal next Monday, as it did a similar petition by German war criminals, Japan's warmakers could be hanged on Dec. 7, on the seventh anniversary of Pearl Harbor.)

The appeals from the international military tribunal's verdict were filed in Washington yesterday in behalf of former Premier Koki Hirota, who helped plot Japan's pre-Pearl Harbor war plans, and Gen. Kenji Doihara, known to the Chinese as the "bird of evil omen."

The Associated Press asked the supreme allied command whether General MacArthur would "recognize the appeal and order the execution of these two men delayed or whether he will ignore the appeal."

This brought the following statement from MacArthur's public information office:

"In reply to a query from the press as to whether the condemned Japanese war criminals would be executed before action could be taken on appeal to the Supreme court of the United States, General MacArthur categorically replied 'Certainly not'."

Later the public information office said this applied to all seven major warmakers, although only two appealed.

Despite the delay, MacArthur's press officers announced they would continue their 24 hours death watch. Presumably the watch would be to handle news of suicide attempts, or similar developments.

3 Injured In Accidents

A South Boulevards youth and two Cleveland residents were injured last night in separate traffic accidents in the city.

Paul Wirick, 16, of 477 Lawn avenue, was reported to have suffered a fractured pelvis in a two-car collision at 6 p. m. at Lexington avenue and Edgewood road. Officers said young Wirick was a passenger in a car driven by Richard D. Wirick of the Lawn avenue address.

The Wirick car, stopped in the north bound lane of traffic to make a left turn into Edgewood road, was struck by a car driven by S. Milton McKay of Xenia. McKay told police he believed the Wirick car was waiting for him to pass and that he continued north colliding with the left rear fender of the Wirick car. Another passenger in the Wirick car, Dale Wirick of Lexington, escaped injury.

Stanton E. Weiler, 114 Michigan avenue, was cited to traffic court at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday to answer a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way. The charge grew out of a collision at East Second and Hedges streets at 8:50 p. m. yesterday which resulted in injuries to Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Gallagher of Cleveland.

Gallagher told officers the Weiler car failed to stop at the stop sign at the intersection, continued through the crossing and sideswiped his car. Officers said Weiler's car traveled 68 feet after the accident, finally coming to a halt in a lawn at the north-east corner of the intersection. The Gallaghers were treated at General hospital for body bruises and shock and released.

Ferguson, Secrist 'Most Valuable'; Wilson Calls Sports Peace Aid

Over 450 Attend Banquet

By GEORGE COMINOS

K. L. 'Tug' Wilson, Big Nine conference athletic commissioner, last night told more than 450 persons at the 13th annual News-Journal football banquet that athletics on an international scale will accomplish more for peace in the world than the diplomats at their tables.

Wilson spoke after gold football 'most valuable player awards" were presented to Paul "Pinky" Ferguson, Senior high quarterback, and Larry Secrist, Madison's left halfback. The players were chosen by their own teammates.

Jeff DeHaven, former Madison coach and now Sandusky high school mentor, presented the N-J award to Secrist. News-Journal sports editor and banquet chairman Fred Tharp made the presentation to Ferguson in behalf of Dave Templeton, Ohio State football captain, who was unable to attend.

NEW AWARDS

There were two other awards this year, presented by the Phi Sigma Chi fraternity. The presentations were made by Pat Malone, who explained that the fraternity had decided something should be done for boys in the line since the N-J awards usually go to backfield men.

These trophies went to two ends,, Senior high's Kenny Carver, and Jim Brightbill, of Madison. Balloting on these awards was by the fans, and Malone turned over a stack of ballots favoring Carver to him since they were "smeared with lipstick from some of his supporters."

The man who kept the crowd in stitches most of the evening was Dick Kroesen, Cleveland sporting goods dealer, who also sells to Massillon. He admitted as much. Kroesen served as master of ceremonies.

Wilson, continuing on his theme that athletics help build peace, pointed out that in the field of sports, regardless of the boys' race, creed or color—"they're all together at the start, but the first to reach the finish line gets the reward."

The Big Nine commissioner at times spoke directly to the 70 or more football players of the two schools.

Remember, as you go out into life some of the important things your coaches taught you when the going was tough. Whatever you do, do it better than the other fellow—and do it clean and fair," he told them.

He told the players they were getting the finest training possi-

Stork Wins Second Race Against Auto

MUNCIE, Ind.—(AP)—It was a boy this time, but otherwise there was nothing new to Mrs. Harold Lewis of Toledo, O., giving birth while riding in an automobile.

A seven-pound son was born Sunday while Mrs. Lewis was being rushed to a hospital in the car of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rench of Gaston, Ind.

The same thing happened to Mrs. Lewis in the same car Jan. 6, 1947. That time it was a girl.

City Bonus Continued By Council

New Pay Measure Under Study

A "cost of living bonus" granting the city's men employes $25 a month and the women workers $12.50 a month was approved last night by city council.

The bill, renewing the bonus for 1949, was passed after council heard a request from Mrs. Mary Deibler, who has been with the city 16 years, that the women be given a bonus equal to the men's.

Speaking on behalf of the nine of the 13 city hall women workers, who attended the meeting, Mrs. Deibler said living costs for women have risen just as much as for men.

Before council voted on the measure, Councilman Harry Bowman, chairman of the finance committee, said the bonus bill was "just a temporary measure. We are studying a new salary ordinance and the bonus is being considered just in case the salary ordinance is not ready by the first of the year," he added.

Questioned after the meeting, Bowman said he was not in position to comment on the nature of what type of increase was being considered or when the bill would be ready.

VOTED LAST YEAR

The "cost of living" bonus was first passed last year as a stopgap measure. Meanwhile city department heads were to draw up a job evaluation survey.

That study was to list jobs according to their required skill and responsibilities and persons would be paid accordingly.

All department heads presented the results of their studies to council early this year, but there was no action.

It was this lack of action that led the police and firemen to put the issue of pay raises before the people. They were granted 29 to 45 per cent increases by the voters on Nov. 2.

Whether the new salary ordinance will take into account the job-evaluation surveys or will give a uniform pay hike remains a secret.

One councilman who declined to be quoted, said in an interview after the meeting that he thought the city lost money in not granting wage increases to the police and firemen when they asked for them.

He said that over the conference table, some sort of a compromise would have been worked out and probably would have cut the increase from the $98,000 to $45,000 annually.

Pneumonia Can't Stop Corn Husking

Herbert Ward, who lives near Olivesburg, is going to get his corn husked despite the pneumonia virus.

Tomorrow his neighbors expect to husk his ten acres of corn and have it ready for storing in his corn crib by tomorrow night.

Ward has been ill with pneumonia for the past month and is unable to get out in the damp weather.

Charles Walker of near Olivesburg, has issued a call to all Ward's neighbors to be at the Ward farm, one and a half miles north of Olivesburg on Route 545, about 9 a. m.

Assembly Minority Revolts

Elects New City Mayor

BERLIN—(INS)—German communists backed by Russia split Berlin in half politically today, electing a mayor of their own at a rump assembly in an outright bid for full control of the city.

In the face of a warning by U. S. Commandant Frank L. Howley that any forceful attempt to seize the city will fail, the communists installed as Mayor Fritz Ebert, son of the late Friedrich Ebert, president of the German republic established at Weimar after the first World war.

Addressing the red-bannered session, Ebert said:

"I am taking over as lord mayor. The new magistrat (executive government) represents the true will of the entire Berlin population."

The action took place prior to a monster outdoor rally before the Berlin university on Unter den Linden designed as a show of communist strength to discourage democratic elements in the western sector elections scheduled for Sunday.

Ottomar Geschke, deputy speaker of the old assembly which combined both east and west Berlin, administered the oath of office. He said:

"Since the elections of 1946, the magistrat has attempted to thwart the will of the people. . . .

"That magistrat has now been ousted."

Fritz Ebert's father, a stormy political figure in an earlier day of German political crisis, died in 1925.

SHOWDOWN STAGE

The election of Ebert means that the communists finally have reached the showdown stage in their attempts to discredit the western Berlin municipal regime that is backed by the U. S., Great Britain and France.

The "rump" assembly voted unanimously for the immediate resignation of Ferdinand Friedensburg, who has been acting mayor during the illness of Frau Louise Schroeder, the lady mayoress of Berlin.

Frau Schroeder, in turn, had served because the Soviets refused to recognize Dr. Ernst Reuter, the duly-elected mayor of Berlin whose social democratic policies were opposed by the Russians.

As crowds gathered for the demonstration, German police in the adjacent western sector were alerted. Emergency patrols cruised near the boundary line to thwart any possible communist "invasion."

Berliners also clustered outside the Staats-Opera where communist members of the city assembly, at Russian bidding, met to pave the way for the east-sector government.

The Soviet-sponsored regime is the Russians' answer to the municipal elections which will be held in the western sectors Sunday. The Soviets are boycotting the balloting and have forbidden east Berliners to vote.

Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet military governor yesterday bluntly informed the western powers that the Russians will not recognize officials elected on Sunday. He implied that the Kremlin will thus regard its own administration as qualified to rule all Berlin.

Skies Clear After Storm

Fair skies returned to the Mansfield area today after the dreariest day of the fall season.

The weatherman said the outlook is "favorable" for the next day or two. The low reading in Mansfield this morning was 32.

A possibility of snow flurries along Lake Erie tomorrow, however, was seen by the weatherman, but he said that "we're not putting too much emphasis on this."

The weather bureau's five-day forecast follows:

Temperatures will average near normal for the period. Cooler Wednesday. Warmer Thursday. Colder Saturday. Snow flurries near Lake Erie Wednesday. Rain late Thursday or Friday with the total amount about ¼ inch.

Police Get Lead In Robbery Death

CINCINNATI— (INS) —Hamilton county police are searching today for a robbery suspect in the death of his alleged partner in a scrap metal theft. Identified as Omar Harrington, the suspect is said to have been seen in the company of the murdered man following several recent burglaries in Campbell county, Ky.

Denies Guilt In Shooting

Champion Held To Grand Jury

Orland T. Champion, 54, of 235 Wood street, pleaded innocent in municipal court today to a charge of shooting with intent to wound and was bound over to the county grand jury under $1,000 bond after he waived preliminary examination.

He is charged with shooting his son-in-law, Henry F. Byrd, 27, who lived with Champion, during a quarrel at their home Friday night.

Police officers who investigated the case said Byrd went to Champion's room after Byrd's five-year-old son said Champion had called Byrd a "bad name."

An argument ensued, the police said, and Byrd was shot four times with a 22-caliber revolver. Byrd is in General hospital where his condition is "fair."

Champion, who was not represented by an attorney in court today, was released on $1,000 bond immediately after the hearing.

PHOTOGRAPHER DIES

DAYTON —(AP)— Karl George, 51-year-old portrait photographer who won international recognition, died yesterday in Good Samaritan hospital.

Cowboy Hero Wins Praise

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ten thousand persons stood and cheered a 48-year-old Texas stockman last night for his heroic role in an unscheduled event at the horse show at the International Livestock exposition.

A few minutes before the crowd gave an ovation to Lloyd Jinkens of Fort Worth, Tex., an 800-pound steer leaped a 5-foot fence into the massed spectators at the show. There were screams of terror from among the crowd.

Jinkens, cattle breeder and quarter horse exhibitor, spurred his horse to the fence, cleared it with a leap from the saddle, bulldogged the animal and led it back into the arena.

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said that Jinkens' action was the most heroic he ever had seen. He said that the steer running amuck among the huge crowd might have trampled many.

Stock Show Nearing Choice of Champion

CHICAGO — (UP) — Two Iowa farm boys matched their pet steers against each other and the nation's best today in the big contest for the International Livestock exposition's grand champion steer award. The huge display of America's farm bounty drew swiftly toward a climax with selection of the blue ribbon steer scheduled for late today.

Recommendations OK'd

Board Gives Nod To Welfare Plans

Richland county commissioners will go along with the recommendations for improving the county's child welfare program if the cost is not prohibitive, commissioners indicated today.

Commissioners passed a resolution showing they are in accord with the recommendations, submitted to them by the Richland county Child Welfare council.

The council's report, containing its recommendations, was sent to the commissioners Nov. 20, after the council made a study of a report on child welfare conditions, prepared by state child welfare workers.

Commissioners, in their resolution, pointed out the recommendations are in line with the board's policy for meeting conditions that have come up in connection with the administration of public child welfare.

At the same time, the resolution points out that the control and administration of the recommendations are not within the province of the board of commissioners, but with the Child Welfare board. The recommendations have been passed on to the board.

The commissioners also asked that recommendations in regards to financing of the projects be contained in the budget submitted by the Child Welfare board to the county auditor and the board of commissioners for consideration in the 1949 appropriation. That will be considered at the first meeting of the New Year, held on the first Monday in January.

THANKS COUNCIL

A copy of the resolution is being sent to the Richland county Child Welfare council, with a vote of thanks to the council "for their interest in the welfare of these county wards."

Commissioners said the expanded program should be looked on as a long-term project rather than something that can be accomplished by next year.

The Child Welfare board must submit its budget to the commissioners within a short time—so it can be considered at

Reds Spring New Trap

Chinese 12th Army Cut Off

NANKING — (AP) — A Chinese communist maneuver which has trapped nearly 140,000 national troops today threatened a showdown for command of the road to Nanking.

Shortly after Chinese press dispatches reported the entire 12th Army was trapped, the U. S. embassy announced naval planes will start Thursday evacuating 100 American dependents of embassy and consular attaches from central China.

They will be flown to Manila from Nanking and Shanghai. The embassy said this was in line with its previous warnings to Americans in central China "to move to areas of greater safety."

Chiang Kai-shek's 12th Army was reported hemmed in by the Reds only 145 miles northwest of Nanking, the national capital, and 67 miles south of Suchow, which has been the key to the central China battle front.

Orders have gone out to the 250,000-man garrison at Suchow to march to the rescue. So far it has shown no disposition to do so. It may prefer to stay where it is, with strong fixed defenses.

How Times Have Changed!

Army Makes Surprised Draftees One-Day Generals

DENVER —(AP)— Colorado's first postwar draftees pinched themselves and wondered if this is the army.

The army threw them a swank party last night. It made them Cinderella generals. Tough old sergeants jumped at their commands. The brass looked on and smiled.

There were dates and bands and song and comedy. And there was food that never graced a wartime chow line.

When it was all over, they went back to warm hotel rooms instead of the cold tents of wartime induction centers. But today, they head for Fort Ord, Calif., and the realities of basic training.

The party was all a part of the army plan to prove there's a new look in soldiering. But it still was by the numbers. The 22-page script for the affair was big enough to swallow a D-day field order.

As one inductee put it, "we weren't exactly invited. We weren't exactly ordered. They told us very nicely that we had to go. It was all part of the things we had to do the day we were inducted."

There was a little of the old hurry-up-and-wait. The group was told to be on hand at 7 p. m. The party got underway 35 minutes later.

A sergeant lined them up and paired them off with their dates. USO and YWCA hostesses in formal gowns. Sixty-one men were slated for induction but six were turned down at the last moment. Nobody remembered to tell the girls so there were six spares.

The men pinned corsages, also courtesy of the army, on their dates. The girls pinned stars on the men and gave them printed commissions as general for the night.

There was a floor show. Then there was dancing.

At midnight, the band gave out with a roll of the drums and 12 loud bangs with the cymbals. The party was over. The girls went home. Two sergeants lined the men up, shouted "forward march" and took them back to their rooms.

Yunckers Spills Komito's, 38-33, In Opener

Fritz Howell's . . . Sports Chatter

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — The mail man had a busy time over the week end while we were out in the Sangamon River valley in Illinois, carving up a bit of Thanksgiving turkey with Aunt Clara.

We rolled into the office a bit weary after a 480-mile drive, expecting to rest up from the abbreviated vacation, but what do you think we found?

We found, for one thing, the truth of that old adage: "The customers always write."

★

Our desk was cluttered up with: Six letters and 126 (we counted 'em) penny postcards from Ada, O., all boosting Jim Glase, the Ohio Northern center, for a berth on the All-Ohio conference team;

Ballots from 184 high schools, 34 newspapers and 17 officials for the top talent in the Ohio high school all-star teams;

Votes from most of the state's colleges for the all-conference, All-Ohio and All Mid-American teams;

And a whole flock of letters, post cards, telegrams, clippings, petitions, etc., mostly from Newark and Alliance, protesting the spots in which the Wildcats and Aviators finished in the final high school "big ten" poll.

We thumbed through most of the huge pile, but with the chore of picking all those honorary teams within the next few days, can't see how we're going to get around to answering it personally.

One nice thing, we noted, was that 64 of the postcards from Ada were not signed, so we won't have to bother with them. And even with all the backing he's received, we can't promise that Mr. Glase will be on the all-conference team.

But there is one thing he should know. Among the signers of the cards were Martha L. Gadwin, Ruth Conklin, Diane Kallas, Dolores Kison, Shirley Sneary, Sue Rausch, Mary Ellen Robey, Mary Ellen Teefer and Mary A. Spar. (Back in my college days I'd have given anything to learn that I had that many coeds on my side.)

★

From Alliance the feature attraction was (by registered mail) a petition signed by 230 persons asking that we tell the folk which team defeated Massillon. The petition was on letterheads of the Palm Garden restaurant, and we hope all the signers were customers.

Taking care of that petition is a simple matter. It was Alliance that defeated Massillon, and the score, if memory serves, was 14-0.

In a letter accompanying the petition, Manager Al Polinori of the Palm Garden asked an explanation of how 28 Ohio sports writers could put Alliance seventh in the poll. We'll pass that one, for all we did was count the votes. The only time we saw the Aviators play was against Canton McKinley—the only game Alliance lost.

★

Bud Howell, who signed as "A Disgusted Postman," believes the name of Howell was besmirched by the final poll; Richard E. Patterson wanted to know if the Aviators had to beat the Cleveland Browns to get a fair rating; a "Loyal Alliance Fan" who signed as "Bill K." believes he could be a sports writer after seeing the final poll; and Jack Robertson bemoaned what he called the "knife-in-the-back blow dealt to the Alliance Aviators by the poll," and challenged the state's sports writers to prove they are right.

Maybe, by spring, we'll find time to answer all of 'em.

G. Allen Milliken, secretary-treasurer of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, after some 500 words of praise for the unbeaten Wildcats who finished fifth, and some paragraphs devoted to the thought that "a couple of cliques of sports writers are dominating the (poll) situation," wound up with:

"We Newark fans will go right on claiming the Wildcats to be 1948 champions. We've as much right as any town."

That you have, sir, and I wouldn't allow a bunch of sports writers to argue me out of that right, if I were you.

★

No objections to the poll have been received from Massillon or Canton McKinley, which finished one-two, but we did get a chuckle from a telegram (prepaid) from Hamilton.

Along in mid-season, when Hamilton was riding high and tossing objections around because it wasn't leading the poll, we had a telegram from Roby Houser, a Big Blue booster, which said it all in just:

"Boo!"

Houser's next telegram, taking cognizance of the loss to Mansfield and a drop to third place in the ratings, summed it up with:

"Boo hoo!"

Penn Cagers, Urschel Five Post Wins

City A league basketball fans are in for some surprising play this winter if last night's opening round session at John Simpson junior high is any example.

Yuncker's Sports pulled the first upset of the year by spilling supposedly - powerful Komito's Clothes, 38-33 in the final game. Urschel Insurance won as expected, 46-31, over Penn Auto-Sporting Goods while Roberts Jewelry tripped Ohio Sport Center, 35-29.

The Yuncker's team, skippered by Fred LaRue, assistant coach at Johnny Appleseed Junior high, led the favored Komito's all the way. They outscored them in every period save the third and trailed in that quarter by only 7 to 6. The Youcker's club was loaded with some fine Shelby players.

Dick Casad, the slim center of the Roberts team was the league's scoring leader as he ripped the nets for seven field goals and three fouls for 17 points. Ollie Cline of Penn Auto got 14 despite his team's defeat. Joe Altomonte led Yunckers with 11 while Dick Flockenzier pumped in 13 for Urschel's Insurance.

Thursday Martin Hardware will meet Richland Beverage, Yuncker's meet Penn Auto and Urschel's and Roger's Jewelry collide in the feature and final game.

The "B" games at Senior high provided more scoring than the A tilts. Mansfield Tire showed considerable power in racking Westinghouse, 45-34, while Ideal Billiards ran up a 50-40 triumph over Reece Optical. Ideal Electric beat Shorty's News, 29-10, in the other contest.

Harman of Ideal Billiards began the season as the city's top scorer as he poured nine buckets and a free throw through the hoop. Meeker of Reece Optical collected 15 points while Swain of Mansfield Tire got 12.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The best college football team in the land? Notre Dame is the answer, and it comes from the boys who should know: the members of the Navy football team.

No. 2 is Michigan, No. 3 is California and in fourth place is Army, barely beating out Missouri for that honor.

With the exception of North Carolina, Navy has met the top five teams in the Associated Press weekly football poll.

The Washington Evening Star asked the 29 "regulars"—those who have had the job of trying to stop Notre Dame, Michigan, California, Army, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Cornell et al—which team they thought was tops.

The result: all 29 ballots came back with Notre Dame marked first.

Louis Finds Smith Easy

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis had little trouble with Billy Smith, 170, Oakland, Calif., last night in a four-round exhibition match, despite Smith's fleet footwork.

Smith fought a long-range battle and managed to stay away from Louis except for a short period near the end of the first round when the champion cornered him.

Louis battered Smith with a barrage of blows with his customary power and zip. Smith was knocked practically across the ring and hesitated to come to grips with Louis again.

The second and third rounds were almost sparring matches with Louis brushing aside Smith's attempts to break his defense with jabs and fancy footwork.

Louis stalked Smith in the last round but the lighter man's nimble feet kept him away from the champion and out of trouble for the rest of the fight.

Tangerine to Have Sul Ross, Murray

MURRAY, Ky. —(AP)— Murray State college has accepted an invitation to play in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., on the night of Jan. 1, college officials announced here today. It was Murray's first bowl bid.

Murray's opponent in the Florida football event will be Sul Ross Teachers of Alpine, Tex.

Banquet Show Great, But 'Pop' And Jeff Steal Fans' Applause

By CHARLEY STINE

The News-Journal football banquet at Richland Recreation had a bit of everything last night—including a spontaneous tribute to two veteran sportsmen close to the hearts of Mansfield football fans.

The event included a fine serious speech by Big Nine Commissioner Tug Wilson, presentation of four trophies and unlimited comedy, yet the biggest applause went to men with minor parts in the program.

We're speaking of balding Jeff DeHaven, the former Madison coach now at Sandusky and white-haired Pop Elias, a tradition as athletic equipman man at Senior high.

Jeff made the presentation of the News-Journal Most Valuable player award to Tailback Larry Secrist. He had coached the boy through his first three years in football at Madison.

"Pop" was a surprise addition to the rostrum when master of ceremonies Dick Kroesen called on him on the insistence of the Senior high players. The 1948 Tygers in the front seats and Tygers of other years farther back gave their old friend a resounding cheer as he treaded his way from a corner of the banquet hall.

"You've asked me for a speech," Pop said, "but you know what the answer usually is when you ask me for some equipment. So, no speech, but I want to tell you that this year's team gave less trouble than any I've ever seen." And he added, reminiscing, "I've seen a lot come and go."

★

Kroezen, a round little man who was not too well known by most, soon won his way into the hearts of the people. His many ad-libbed wisecracks and general good job as emcee did much to keep the show moving. He is head of the March of Dimes drive in Ohio and did a fine job of slipping in a plug for this favorite charity.

★

"Tug" Wilson, to whom the writer had the honor of playing escort, was caught slightly off guard at the Pennsylvania station shortly after midnight.

On walking into the station, the people we saw were Ohio State Athletic Director Dick Larkin and Ashland sports editor Loren Tibbals. Larkin spoke at the Ashland banquet also last night.

Tug wanted to know what the Buck athletic director was doing going to Chicago, but Larkin had a good answer.

"Because you called a meeting!"

★

Wilson impressed all who met him with ready smile and slow, easy-flowing drawl. He renewed old acquaintances with Harry Mehock and Jimmy Lymper and recalled Augie Morningstar and Mike Byelene as Purdue football stars.

Much of the fun of the program was contributed by a "Bill Veeck show" of giving away a pig, chicken, cake of ice and all sorts of plain and fancy items.

Madison guard Norm Hughes got the "Gantz-Hergatt pig" while Senior high end Kenny Carver was presented with the Frankie Mitsch trophy—about half of the Corner store. Carver got six loaves of bread, a string of weiners, can of vegetables, and several other delicacies.

Tyger public address announcer was given 25 pounds of ice to "cool him off" while Joe Letizia was awarded the biggest trophy of the evening, a mounted gold-wrapped bushel basket with the inscription "Butterthumb trophy to Gluefingers Letizia."

Tyger Coaches Byelene and Hoffman were given wigs while little Mike Lalli of Madison got a pair of stilts and A. C. Jenkins a huge pair of dice. Lou Gregorio got the wildest present, a flopping white chicken which he was made to chase around the front of the hall.

Graham Direct Antithesis Of Rebel's Winning Policy

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK—(INS)—All-America Football conference statistics disclosed today that Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns is the direct antithesis of the Confederate leader whose winning policy was to "get there fustest with the mostest."

The motto of Otto this season has been to "git there lastest with the mostest." After lagging behind new leaders all season, he exploded against San Francisco last Sunday at a time when it would do him and the Browns the most good.

Automatic Otto pitched for four touchdowns against the 49ers, thus winning the Browns their third consecutive western title and lifting himself into first place in the league's list of individual passing and total offensive leaders. He had been trailing in third place in both departments.

However, Graham is not yet out of the woods. A Baltimore gentleman bearing the somewhat fictional cognomen of Yelberten Abraham Tittle is pressing him closely in both specialties.

In the rushing department, Cleveland's Marion Motley, the leader was held to a total of 36 yards in his last two games and is a mere four yards ahead of John (you say it) Strzykalski of the 49ers.

Glenn Dobbs of the Los Angeles Dons has averaged 49.1 yards per punt and seems certain to break his major league mark of 47.8.

Team statistics show that defense ability, rather than offensive power, is responsible for Cleveland's unbeaten and untried record.

San Francisco leads in scoring, total offense and rushing, and Baltimore is tops in passing, but Cleveland shows the way in scoring defense, total defense and rushing defense. The Browns also are second only to Brooklyn in pass defense.

In other words the whole Cleveland team, like its ace, Graham, seems to turn on the heat only when it is needed.

Cubs Drop Eight

CHICAGO —(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs, whose minor league farm system is one of the most widespread in baseball, announced today that eight of their 18 farm teams will be dropped next year.

Now Templeton Is Selected On All-America

Former Mansfield high school star Dave Templeton today was named on his first All-American squad.

The Ohio State captain was given honorable mention the All-American squad picked by "The Quarterback," football supplemental of the Sporting News, national baseball weekly.

Templeton had previously been honored with places on various All-Big Ten and All-Midwest squads.

Tribe To Aid Santa's Work

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Even Santa Claus is a new fan of the world champion Cleveland Indians' baseball club.

Old Santa, scheduled to make a special appearance at the annual Christmas celebration of the suburban Shaker Heights Businessmen's association, will distribute 3,000 autographed photos of Tribe members to children who greet him.

St. Nick will get an assist in his chores from Bill Veeck, the Tribe president.

Tire, Sons of Italy Win F-H Cage Games

Mansfield Tire and the Sons of Italy jumped into the lead in the Friendly House A league as play opened last night on the F-H court.

The Tiremen had little trouble in disposing of Rex Billiards, 38-16, while Sons of Italy trimmed Safety Cabs, 22-17.

Larry Inscore began as the league's scoring leader with 11 points for Safety Cabs. John Bradock got ten for Mansfield Tire while Orlando Carbetta had nine for Sons of Italy.

Mansfield Tire will meet Sons of Italy in the second set of games next Monday.

Cash Balance Up

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— President Ed Dudley of the Professional Golfers' association announced today the tournament committee had finished the 1948 tourney season with the highest cash balance in history.

Battle To Draw

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— The welter clash of Chicago's Johnny Bratton and Bobby Lee of Baltimore which was intended to produce an over-the-weight opponent for Lightweight Champion Ike Williams failed in that purpose today with the bout ending in a draw.

'Choosy' Georgia Mentor Blasted

NEW YORK —(UP)—Georgia's coach Wally Butts was blasted by an avalanche of criticism today for being too choosy about whom his Bulldogs play in the Orange Bowl.

But Butts, sticking to his guns, insisted, "I'm not going to sell my boys down the river."

Officials of the Miami, Fla., post-season football game finally selected thrice-beaten, once-tied Texas almost in desperation after Butts ruled out all fellow-members of the Southeastern conference as opponents for Georgia.

Butts reasoned that his team already had won the conference championship and therefore could gain no prestige—but could lose plenty—in meeting another member of the league New Year's day.

This sent the Orange Bowl selection committee reeling.

Just about all of the bowl eligibles out of the league already had been snatched up by other post-season classics, so the committee was counting on some team like Tulane, Mississippi, or Vanderbilt—none of which Georgia played this season—to round out its game.

Butts' ultimatum eliminated that trio, leaving the Miami people little choice but to take the defeat - splattered Longhorns. In the deep south, the snubbed Southeastern conference members and their sports editor supporters were enraged, but Butts was unyielding, even offering to withdraw Georgia from the game rather than play a league member.

In New Orleans, the Orange Bowl frowns were contrasted by the beaming smile of Oklahoma's Coach Bud Wilkinson, whose Sooners were picked to meet North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl. He arrived to talk tickets with the Bowl sponsors, but took time out to reveal he had accepted an invitation to the game by telephone only 13 minutes after Oklahoma closed its season by defeating Oklahoma A. & M. Saturday. "We're all happy as kids about it," he said.

The selection of teams for the minor bowls continued at a merry clip. Murray State Teachers of Kentucky were the latest to say "yes" agreeing to meet unbeaten, untied Sul Ross in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

A California report said Navy, which didn't win a game all season but won national acclaim for a 21-21 tie with Army, had been invited to the Harbor Bowl at San Diego. But Navy Athletic Director Tom Hamilton would neither confirm nor deny the report.

The tastiest item in the bowl roundup comes from Taylor, Tex. There one Elmore R. Torn suggested organization of a "Black-Eyed Pea Bowl." It, he explained, would match not undefeated teams—but teams which had picked up "black eyes" during the season.

Bellville-Lexington Battle In Feature Game

County Cage Loop Opens With 4 Tilts

The 1948-49 edition of the Richland County basketball league will open its pennant chase tonight with the two expected contenders, Bellville and Lexington, battling from the start.

The Blue Jays, last year's tournament winners, and Minutemen, league champions, meet on the Lexington floor in the feature game of the program.

Bellville will be making its first court appearance of the season while Lexington has won three of four non-league games.

The other six teams will also swing into action with Butler invading Union, Plymouth traveling to Lucas and Ontario entertaining Shiloh.

Reserve games will precede all contests.

Tonight's games are the first of 14 nights of league play as each team meets all other schools on a home-and-home basis. Second set will be played Friday.

Quaker Center First Lineman To Get Award

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Charles Bednarik, All-Amrican center for the University of Pennsylvania, was acclaimed today as the first lineman to be chosen the outstanding college player of the year by the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial Football club.

The 23-year-old 233-pound pivot man who completed 30 missions over Germany as an Army Air force waist-gunner, was lauded by Penn's Coach George Munger as "a man who could play any position on the team."

Dodgers Boast Farm On Coast

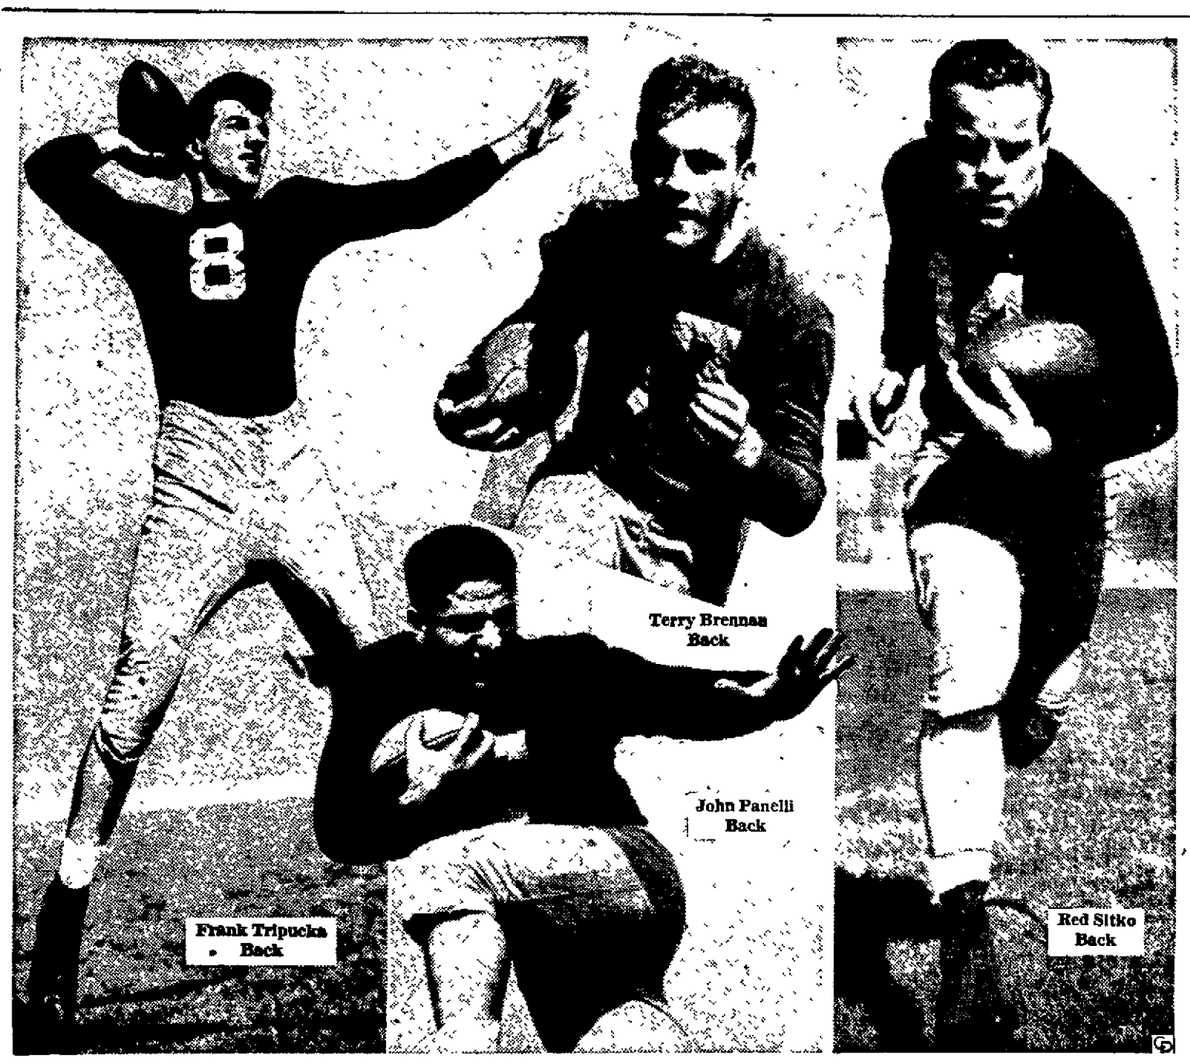
NEW YORK — (UP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers today became the only major league club with an affiliate in each of the triple-A circuits when they announced the signing of a working agreement with the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league.

Brooklyn, which controls Montreal in the International league and St. Paul in the American Association, signed the pact with Hollywood on a year-to-year basis. It marks the first time that the Dodgers will work with a subsidiary in the Pacific Coast league.

Miami Ponders Bid To Texas

OXFORD, O.—(INS)—The Miami Redskins were to hold their second pow-wow late today to decide whether to accept an invitation and invade hostile Texas territory to play in the Basin Bowl at Odessa.

The squad first met yesterday afternoon but postponed a decision in the absence of Coach George Blackburn, called away to a speaking engagement at Galion.



INS Names 22-Man All-America

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—Seven players from the midwest, five from the south, four from the far west and three each from the southwest and the east make up the International News Service all-American football team for 1948.

The 22-man squad is a departure from the custom of picking an 11-man first team and is in keeping with the widely used two platoon system which has been the outgrowth of the unlimited substitution rule.

The squad is divided into an offensive eleven and a defensive eleven of equal merit.

This innovation may not be as popular as the old way of putting the finger on 11 men and saying these are the best, but it is the only fair way to select the mythical team under present conditions.

The era of the iron man in football rapidly is passing. An increasing number of players are tutored and geared to specialize for offense or defense and must be recognized for the part they play.

In some cases, these selectees have performed almost equally well on both offense and defense and are arbitrarily allotted a place on one team or the other.

The main point is that the elevens are of equal merit and, theoretically, could be switched to suit the theoretical coach.

The players were selected with the aid of International News Service football experts across the nation and through a close check on games throughout the season.

Of the 22 players, 13 are seniors, eight are juniors and one a sophomore. The latter, who so young in his career finds himself in such unusual company, is Paul Lea, Tulane's smashing tackle from New London, Tex.

Repeaters from last year's INS 11-man all-America first team are Doak Walker, the Southern Methodist back, and Chuck Bednarik, Penn's great center.

The heavy, fast and versatile backfield of eight men could be handily juggled for the offense or defense without slightest qualm.

Whether placed on the offense or the defense in these selctions the backs would do equally well in any situation.

For purposes of getting the best eight in the business they have been lined up as follows:

Offensive—Clyde Scott, Arkansas; Jack Jensen, California; Norman Van Brocklin, Oregon, and Charlie Justice, North Carolina.

Defensive — Doak Walker, Southern Methodist; Bobby Gage, Clemson; Pete Elliott, Michigan; George Taliaferro, Indiana.

This doesn't take in all the great backs in the land, nor do the rest of the selections cover all the great linemen, but it attempts to skim off the cream of the crop and there can be little, if any room for argument.

Aside from the forementioned backs, the team stacks up as follows:

Offensive—Ends, Dick Rifensburg, Michigan, and Sam Tamburo, Penn State: tackles, Lauri Niemi, Washington State, and Paul Lea, Tulane, guards, Joe Henry. Army, and Leo Nomellini, Minnesota, center, Charles Bednarik, Penn.

Defensive—Ends, Leon Hart, Notre Dame, and Barney Poole, Mississippi; tackles, Tim Turner, California, and Bill Fischer, Notre Dame; guards, Bill Healy, Georgia Tech, and Paul Burris, Oklahoma; center, Alex Sarkisian, Northwestern.

Bus Fare Goes Up

DAYTON — (UP) — Dayton's nickel public transportation fare, one of the last five-cent rides in the United States, will become a victim to the high cost of living Jan. 7. The fare on all city trolley buses will be increased to 10 cents cash or seven tokens for 50 cents.

CALVERT RESERVE Blended Whiskey—86 8 Proof—65% Grain Neutral Spirits. Calvert Distillers Corp., New York City

Buck Cagers Bank on Tall Bob Raidiger

COLUMBUS —(INS)— "Bob will hold his own against most teams, but he's only six feet-four and that's giving a lot of height away to some teams."

That's what the man said, this William Dye, basketball coach of Ohio State. He was speaking of his probable center, Bob Raidiger, who at six-four ought to have plenty of height to give away.

But Mr. Dye is a little worried about the pint-sized replacement for six-six Neil Johnson. He'll do all right on offense, he sez, but on defense he'll have to do a lot of jumping to get up to taller opponents.

Besides Raidiger, Dye has four of last year's starters returning for the coming season. Dick Schnittker, who erased previous Buckeye scoring records with 322 points is expected to help the Bucks in the Big Nine this year.

Bob Donham, Bob Burkholder and Gene Brown complete the list of experienced help Dye is moulding into what is expected to be one of the best clubs in the conference.

The Bucks open against Butler in Columbus Saturday night.

Filed Bonus Claims Paid

All regular bonus claims except those filed within the last 30 days have been paid, reports Jack R. Bistline, assistant service officer of the Richland county Soldiers' Relief office.

The irregular claims are those in which the application has been filled in improperly or where the necessary documents were incomplete.

Any veteran who has not yet received his applied-for check and who has changed his address since filing should notify officials directly, urged Bistline. A notice of a change of address to the post office is not enough, added Bistline, for under no circumstances will a bonus check be forwarded.

Sees Life Via U. S. Glasses

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. —(UP)—King Paul 1 of Greece is looking at life through American eyeglasses.

He and Queen Frederika Louise have received a dozen pair of spectacles, made here on prescriptions supplied by the royal physician. C. E. Hart, assistant export manager of the American Optical Co., cited the incident as evidence of "growing United States supremacy in optical craftsmanship."

Greek-born employes of the firm included in the shipment spectacle cases with the regal coat of arms embossed in gold leaf, and a quantity of lens cleaners containing the king's crest.

3—In Memoriam

IN LOVING memory of our dearly beloved nephew Robert "Bob" Guthrie, who left us 2 years ago today, November 30, 1946:
They say time heals all sorrow
And it helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss him yet
God gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose him
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Aunts, Mrs. Ray Williams and Mabel Ufferman.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

See New Anti-Spy Bill Need

Dept. of Justice Readies Proposal

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The Justice department is pressing for a quick go-ahead on one of the toughest anti-spy bills ever proposed in this country, it was learned today.

The measure is now before the budget bureau for approval but Justice department sources said the bureau first wants to get the okay of various other agencies. The Justice department is opposing such a move on grounds it would delay congressional action.

Department officials said Attorney General Tom C. Clark may possibly take the matter directly to President Truman in an effort to have the bill ready when Congress convenes in January.

The measure is designed to plug up loopholes in the present espionage act. It was prepared in cooperation with the FBI and intelligence offices of the Army, Navy and Air Force. Work on it began in 1946.

Under its provisions:

1. The present three-year statue of limitations on espionage prosecutions would be eliminated.

2. It would be a crime for any federal official to fail to report the theft of secret documents.

3. All persons trained in espionage or sabotage by a foreign power would be requested to register.

4. It would legalize the use of evidence obtained by wiretapping in internal security cases and would permit intelligence agents to have access to now-forbidden telegrams and cables.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark contends present espionage laws are far too loose for effective work against foreign spy operations.

Despite Clark's pleas for a tightening of the laws, Congress has been unwilling to act for fear of endangering civil rights. Department lawyers hope the new bill will prove acceptable.

They feel that recent disclosures of spying within the government may have convinced the lawmakers that the present law is inadequate for the protection of the nation's internal security.

450 Hear Wilson at Banquet: Ferguson, Secrist Get Awards

ble. "That means we'll have better citizens. Remember, you carry the tradition of Mansfield football—hard, clean football. So, any college coach will say, 'Son, I'm glad to have you on my team'."

During the forepart of his talk, Wilson had competition from the cackling of a chicken, and the squealing of a pig, which were given as prizes. The chicken quit, but the pig was escorted out by Tharp, a former farm lad.

Talking to the older people in the audience, Wilson said that sometimes the question is asked if a big football stadium is worth while. "I think it is," Wilson said.

He explained that 40 colleges had made a survey as to the factors that make people successful in life. Wilson said the survey placed health first, followed by loyalty, perseverance, courage. "Where you can best develop health? Where is there a better place to develop these various qualities than on the athletic field?"

Turning again to the Olympics, Wilson told how the ancient Greeks called off their wars between states when the time for the Olympics came around. He related that the winning athletes when they returned to their villages were given a place at council tables. But with the coming of the Romans, the Olympics passed away, to be revived in 1896, he said.

Wilson called on the athletes to "hit your books just as hard. Whatever you're doing, whatever you're interested in, give it one-hundred per cent," he said.

He said that following the first World War, schools cut their squads too heavily, and as a result many fellows were found unfit physically for Army duty.

"My plea is for more teams and an opportunity given to every youngster to play some competitive game. Give boys a chance at competitive games. That's what brings out the best or the worst in a boy. My experience shows that it brings out the best."

Wilson told a story of a game Northwestern was playing against Minnesota and the bigger Minnesota team had the Northwestern team back against its own goal line.

"But the punter back there came through with an 82-yard kick. But that player had never kicked 60 yards in practice," Wilson said.

"Remember, you can do what you want if you try hard enough. Your perseverance at football will not only help your football, but it will help you," Wilson told the young athletes.

He called on the Mansfield players to start playing Massillon now. And he called on the Madison players to start now to prepare themselves for the games they want to win next year.

Both Augie Morningstar, senior high coach, and Ennis Walker, Madison coach, introduced their players.

Morningstar said the seniors had done a "grand job," and described them as "one of the finest group of kids I ever had."

Walker, paying tribute to his seniors, said he would have liked to have them back next year.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said the team had shown a wonderful spirit and called for finishing the job by beating Massillon next year.

Gold footballs were presented to graduating seniors on each team by courtesy of Sam Fox.

Seated at the speakers' table were Rev. Matthew G. Madden, who delivered the invocation, Mansfield Schools Superintendent W. L. Miller, Madison Superintendent Olan LaRue, Malone, Ken Woodman, News-Journal executive editor, and the coaches.

Master of ceremonies for the "prize" giving was Robert "Curly" Miller.

A number of songs were presented by the Humdingers, of the SPEBSQSA, Inc. The quartet was composed of Ralph Hughes, Russel Moore, John Whitcomb and A. T. Van Auker.

Part of the hilarity consisted of giving away a hunk of ice, a small but lively pig, a chicken (alive), flashlights, a lighted candle and a lantern, six loaves of bread and a "necklace" of weiners.

Members of the audience termed the show the best in the 13-year banquet history.

GARY, Ind. (U.P.)—Man-made missiles capable of circling the globe in two hours, and space ships that would make the moon a next door neighbor of the earth are possibilities of the future, according to Charles F. Green, a consulting engineer.

"Our more immediate concern however," Green said, "is the solution of many problems in ballistics and aerodynamics."

Pointing out that today's rocket research may result in discoveries which will have a tremendous effect on industry and peacetime applications of power, Green named the following developments which may be expected as a result of the experiments:

New and greater energy fuels and propellants; more powerful motors, capable of speeds greater than 3,600 miles per hour; new heat-resistant materials; more accurate guiding and navigational equipment; and rocket-detection radar of improved design.

Council to Get Building Code

By SHELDON BINN

A building code to protect Mansfield home-buyers is being prepared by Councilman Nelson Swihart and will be presented for approval in the "near future."

Swihart said today he has been working on the measure for the past several months

He explained that he has yet to meet with the housing committee and the city solicitor for consultation in framing the bill

'The ordinance will embody specific restrictions concerning materials and types of construction for residential dwellings and will set up minimum standards for the protection of the public"

The question of a building code has been kicked around for several years Three years ago an architect was requested to prepare such an ordinance, but nothing definite developed

One explanation for the delay came from Councilman George Kyle. He said a code could not be drawn up until the federal government made up its mind on building restrictions.

He explained that some communities had run into difficulties when they drew up codes more restrictive than those laid down by the federal government under FHA specifications

AWAIT PATTERN

Therefore, a builder qualified for an FHA-financed home under the federal government's rules, did not meet the local requirements Kyle said the government especially if it should pass a public housing law ill unify the matter and this l a pattern for cities to follow.

A building code specifying certain types of materials and banning the use of others, can make or break local suppliers of the products involved city building observers pointed out

Furthermore, with the movement toward prefabricated homes on the upswing, framers of building codes must contend with pressure from the building trades industries, it was pointed out.

Carpenters bricklayers and similar workers seek to have prefabricated buildings banned because they necessarily reduce the amount of work available for them

Other groups seeking large scale speedy construction of low cost units argue in favor of the prefabricated dwellings

Use Surplus In Paying Dividends

Bell Official Admits Tapping

COLUMBUS — (AP) The Ohio Bell Telephone company tapped its surplus funds last year to pay $7 50 dividends on shares owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph company

Ohio Bell president Randolph Eide, testifying before the State Utilities Commission today said his company s 1947 earnings per share were only $6 52 and to pay a $7 50 dividend the utility drew $1,711,000 from surplus funds

Eides statement came under cross-examination by Judge Robert M Morgan assistant law director of Cleveland one of 15 communities protesting an Ohio Bell request for a statewide, nine per cent boost in rates

Explaining the dividend payment Eide said

I think that the surplus belongs to the stockholders and under certain circumstances dividends can be paid out of surplus"

Asked by Judge Morgan if the dividends were paid to satisfy the A T and T Eide declared the payment of dividends enable the company to attract new capital for plant improvement and expansion

'It is then (A T and T) credit that you help maintain then,' Judge Morgan continued

'I hope so' replied Eide

Farlier, Eide told the commission Ohio Bell had spent $100 - 000 000 for plant expansion in the three-year period beginning in September 1945

As a result of this expansion Eide added 100 000 unfilled orders for telephones have been reduced to 16 000 However he said the company has not been able to keep up with the demand for service

A look around town indicates that some early Christmas shoppers are already at it.

Time was when a person could get a right serviceable car for the $500 now regarded in Washington, D. C., as about the right "tip" to give a salesman for prompt delivery.

One five-year-old has an idea that Santa Claus should stay at the North Pole making toys until nearer Christmas, instead of starting to travel around right after Thanksgiving.

Time to Consider Voting Machines

WITH voting machines growing in favor over the country, and already in operation in some Ohio cities and counties, this is a subject that is suitable for renewed discussion in Richland county.

Proposal in some Ohio counties where introduction of voting machines is being considered is that the matter be left to majority preference of voters at either a primary or regular election, instead of leaving the decision to the board of county commissioners based on recommendation by the board of elections.

It is claimed for voting machines that they greatly reduce the possibility of errors in the count, such as are common to the present system, and that the tabulation of results becomes immediately available after closing of the polls.

Original cost of voting machines is considerable, and in the event of submitting the question to voters, methods of financing the purchase should also be presented for approval or rejection, rather than that a mere expression of preference be asked.

After Twenty Years of Service

AMONG those who have had opportunity to know of the earnest effort that John H. Finefrock has put into the work of the Richland County Children's Home board during the past twenty years, there will be a feeling of regret at learning of his resignation from what has recently become known as the Child Welfare board.

Only a sincere interest in the welfare of unfortunate or neglected children could account for the willingness of Mr. Finefrock to give so unstintedly of time and ability to the uncompensated—and quite generally unappreciated—task of caring for the many details involved in the work of this board.

After all, twenty years of freely contributed service to a public institution seems as much as can be reasonably expected of any one person, and opportunity is now given to someone else to make a similar sacrifice of time and talents—without pay, of course, and with many annoyances and much criticism.

North Atlantic Defensive Alliance

THERE are some especially encouraging features of the North Atlantic defense pact which is being drafted for the Western European Union. One is the vision of a 50-year agreement. The fact that a paper is signed to be effective for a stated time does not necessarily mean that it will endure for that period, and half a century is a very long time in European politics. But it shows that the people doing the work are thinking in terms of a long task.

A working federation of European nations, of the kind which has been dreamed of as an outgrowth of the Western Union, might depend on the patience of both leaders and followers who approach the project expecting to labor long and slowly.

This may seem to be in strange contrast with the sense of urgency overhanging plans for the defense of Western Europe. Hasty defensive alliances may have to be set up, but they must be regarded as temporary. It will take time to erect enduring defenses, whether physical or political.

Another interesting point is that the pact is to provide for expansion. In the immediate future the Western Union hopes to draw the United States and Canada into the defensive alliance. The way is to be open for others to join. Such an arrangement should be infinitely stronger than one of fixed limits, and it seems to look forward to a day of unity in Europe.

Investigation of Profits Urged

CONGRESS should investigate business profits, says Senator Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont. Senator Flanders is a manufacturer who has been active in the conservative National Association of Manufacturers. He has been sent to the Senate by the most steadfast Republican state in the Union.

He is evidently disturbed over reports of excessive business profits, and their possible connection with today's intolerably high price level.

According to Henry Wallace, his third party "is far more important now than it ever was"—which still seems to leave it quite unimpressive.

In any event, the name, "Dewey," will live in history—as the Hero of Manila Bay . . . back in 1898, that is.

The Wolves'll Get You If You Don't Watch Out.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Economic Conditions Modify Promises

IN ALL this vale of transitory things, the most fleeting is a campaign speech. This is not, as many people believe, because candidates do not tell the truth. It is because campaign oratory deals with a rapidly changing world and generally looks backward at things as they were.

Promises, therefore, are hitched to conditions which voters have already felt and seen, and often have little application to the world as it is the morning after election.

So it seems to be with President Truman's campaign against inflation. Probably a number of the millions who voted for him did so because they expected him to bring prices down, set up controls and improve the purchasing power of wages.

Other millions did so because they expected him to uphold the farmer's minimum prices. The pay-off is now due. And as an honest man, the President expects to pay.

But a lot has happened since his speeches were made. The prediction, made in this column in September, that price increases for the time being had probably run their course has been verified. That, I may add, is a prediction for which there are no regrets.

The commodity price level of the New York Journal of Commerce registered a drop from more than 320 in January to 278 on November 24. It is now evident that for the time being the cost-of-living index will show no seriously rising trend. For the first time is shows a decline.

* * *

Controls Not Favored.

PERHAPS had the Republican candidate appreciated the argument why this would take place and had he known the October price index and made it known to others, he might have been spared disaster. But Truman luckily was spared that attack and luckily he may now approach his task, which once seemed impossible, with confidence of success.

Dr. Edwin C. Nourse, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, is to direct the administration's drive to fulfill the campaign promises on prices.

Announcement of the Nourse appointment indicates a degree of caution which must spring from the changed conditions.

Nourse is to head a team of responsible cabinet members and department heads. The job is not being assigned to the Council of Economic Advisers, on which Leon Keyserling is an influential member and whose views have been alarming to conservative people. Apparently Keyserling and his views are to be kept in the background.

There seems to be no disposition to revive wartime controls. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, who will serve on the Nourse team, has never been enthusiastic about controls. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has at various times expressed the thought that less food should be exported, thus to keep down prices.

On the other hand, Secretary of Labor Tobin has greatly encouraged labor in its drive for a fourth round of wage increases.

And Chester Bowles, former champion of controls and now governor-elect of Connecticut, says that nothing like the old OPA is to be expected.

What we are witnessing is an administration hurriedly taking note of changing conditions and seeking means to avoid a straight repudiation of campaign promises, while giving considerable leeway to visible natural forces to bring prices under control. This is a measure of reassurance to those who, immediately after the election, were in a panic about the months ahead.

The Nation Today

Racial Barrier Dropped

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Here are some events of the past few weeks which show in the present college generation some growth of appreciation for a man as a man in spite of his color:

Levi Jackson, a Negro, unanimously was elected captain of the Yale football team.

Frank S. Jones, a Negro, was chosen student manager of the Harvard football team.

Thomas W. Gibbs, a Negro, was pledged a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Amherst college over the protest of the national fraternity. The Amherst chapter was suspended by the national organizaztion before Gibbs was initiated.

Lafayette college refused to play in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., on New Year's day because state laws there discriminated against its Negro halfback.

The New York Times and the Herald-Tribune thought the events important enough to treat them as outstanding news.

Someone from another country, seeing those events considered prime news, would realize racial tolerance in this country is far from widespread.

If it were, only Jackson's election would have been news, since the election of a Yale captain always is; the El Paso incident wouldn't have happened; and the other two events would not have been unusual enough to be news.

* * *

Working In Five Ways.

BUT ALL those events are only one of the five ways in which attacks are being made on the problem of racial and religious prejudice and discrimination, more and more every year.

1. By individual groups acting for themselves, such as the students at the schools mentioned. They've knocked a few bricks out of the wall of prejudice, if only in their own backyard.

Such action may be limited to a group here or there. Or by breaking the ice it may awaken others to the problems, and make it easier for them to reach similar decisions.

2. By written and spoken words: In newspapers, magazines, on the radio and in discussion groups. And this includes education at home and in schools.

This is a constant, growing pressure. It keeps the whole problem out in the open. It stimulates thinking and it challenges people who practice prejudice or discrimination to defend themselves or do something about it.

3. By individual states. The states themselves can try — and many have — in their own way to solve the problem which makes some of their citizens second class citizens because of their race, color or religious beliefs.

4. By the U. S. Supreme court. For example, through decisions which:

Strengthen Negroes' voting rights; forbid forcing Negroes to ride in the back of buses crossing state lines; outlaw real estate deals in which owners agree not to sell a home to a Negro or a Jew.

5. By the federal government—the President or Congress—issuing orders or passing laws which knock down discrimination.

President Truman's civil rights program for southern Negroes, if passed by Congress, is an illustration of No. 5.

The President's orders to federal agencies not to discriminate in their employment is another example.

The roots of prejudice in this country are so deep, that no one of the five attacks on it can solve the problem.

And if all five were working now at white heat, the prejudice might be controlled, but it's unlikely it would disappear from individuals for years to come.

But all five, taken together, have a steady impact on, and against, discrimination and prejudice, and whittle some of them away.

ODD FACT

It takes nearly 11 quarts of milk to make a pound of butter.

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

Courtesy Extended To Madame Chiang

MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S unofficial mission to the United States—presumably to make an urgent plea for further American aid to her hard-hit country—has evoked little enthusiasm in Washington.

The brilliant first lady of China naturally is being received with every courtesy due her high position. She is being brought here in American planes, and the flight from San Francisco to Washington is being made in President Truman's former private machine, the Sacred Cow. Moreover, she is to be the house guest of Secretary of State and Mrs. Marshall at their home at Leesburg, Va., near the capital.

However, Madame Chiang's sensational trip strikes American diplomatic circles as savoring a bit too much of high-pressure tactics, especially since it follows so closely on the generalissimo's direct appeal to President Truman for more help—and quick.

The whole problem is, of course, a matter of earnest discussion between Mr. Truman and General Marshall.

Well, it would have been more discreet if Nanking had held its hand until the President and the secretary of state had a chance to thresh the matter out. Still, I think that in fairness we must recognize Madame Chiang's trip is impelled by a situation which is so chaotic that China's very life must seem to its harassed government to be at stake.

As a matter of fact, the Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek is in danger of going down for the third time. Things look grim for the Nationalists in the great battle with the Chinese communists in the Suchow sector, which is the gateway to the national capital of Nanking—the gateway to all central China, for that matter.

On November 20 when the Chinese government announced a sweeping victory over the Red rebels in the Suchow area, this column warned readers to await developments before jumping to conclusions. It looked to me as though the attacking communists had merely paused for a breather and reorganization after some ten days of fierce attack, and that they would resume their offensive in due course.

The offersive has been resumed and some half million Red troops are said to be on the move towards Nanking. A quarter million government troops in the Suchow area are reported to have been ordered to withdraw southward for defense of the capital and the routes into central China, but thus far the withdrawal hasn't been effected.

In any event, as things now stand the 250,000 Nationalist defenders are faced with attack by twice their number. And the Reds are receiving support from the Russians via Manchuria and Mongolia.

So if we find Generalissimo Chiang an obstinate and persistent fellow, I think we must remember that those are the very qualities which have enabled him to wage war for seventeen long years, first against the Japanese and then against the Chinese communists.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Democrats Get Some New State Leaders

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Whether the old bosses like it or not, a new generation of Democratic leaders has emerged as a result of the Truman triumph.

They include Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Governor-elect Chester Bowles of Connecticut and Illinois' Governor Adlai Stevenson—plus one unpublicized gentleman who has inherited the leadership of the California Democratic party with as much unpremeditated forethought as a man tripping down a flight of stairs.

He is State Senator George Luckey of California.

The Luckey political story is as fabulous as that of Jack and the Beanstock. A year ago, Luckey was a successful cattleman living quietly outside Los Angeles.

Today, as vice chairman of the Democratic party for southern California, he has succeeded Jimmy Roosevelt as a Democratic potentate and kingmaker.

When the Democrats went to Philadelphia for their convention last July, Luckey wasn't even a delegate. He was merely an alternate—though a fiery supporter of Harry Truman. He fell into the job of bossing California Democrats chiefly because everyone else thought Truman was licked.

Most California Democrats threw their hands in the air. But Luckey rolled up his sleeves and agreed to underwrite any deficit incurred by the party. And election day found him the most important Democrat in California.

* * *

Luckey Goes To Washington.

LAST WEEK George Luckey came to Washington, but not like a tourist. He wore embroidered cowboy boots underneath his pants. The minute he hit town, the White House was on the phone inviting him to visit the President. Treasury Secretary Snyder, Agriculture Secretary Brannan, Howard McGrath, Louis Johnson and other high Democratic potentates waited on Mr. Luckey, wined-and-dined the country boy who never gave up.

The Luckey story spelled victory for the Democrats in several other ways. In 1932, Luckey was a New Mexico rancher, virtually broke. Roosevelt's election gave him a chance to borrow enough money from the agriculture department to market his cattle in California, and his subsequent financial recovery paralleled that of the country. Gradually he built up his holdings, until today he markets in the neighborhood of 12,000 head of cattle a year from ranches sprawled over Utah, California and Texas. He has just completed a $300,000 push-button cattle-feeding plant outside San Antonio.

Asked why he plunged so heavily on the Democratic party, Luckey says: "The Democrats have been good to the Luckey family. You don't shoot your banker where I come from."

The Luckey-Truman friendship had an unusual origin. About a year ago, Luckey heard Truman speak on the radio. He wrote the President a congratulatory note. Truman answered personally. The correspondence built up a personal friendship.

Asked if he ever corresponded with Roosevelt, Luckey replied:

"I wouldn't ever have written to Roosevelt. He was sort of like God. You prayed to him, but you never wrote. Truman's just a regular feller—the kind anyone can understand."

Luckey still wears his cowboy boots everywhere — even to the White House, and when Truman saw him he chuckled:

"George, I'm sure glad you're still wearing those boots. They're just right for booting a few of the guys around here who need a real kick in the pants."

* * *

Unhappy Mr. Forrestal.

BEST evidence that the President hasn't changed his mind about firing Secretary of Defense Forrestal is the inside story of what happened at Key West. Forrestal's visit was built up by his newspaper friends as a sure sign he had wiggled back into Truman's good graces. But here are some facts that didn't leak out at the time.

First, Forrestal flew to Key West at his own request, but expecting a private, intimate chat with the President. Instead he found the house full of guests and little chance to be alone with Truman. Though the President walked to the door to greet other important guests as they entered, he waited until Forrestal was halfway across the living room before acknowledging him.

When Truman really likes anyone he goes all-out to meet them, even goes all the way to the airport to meet Secretary of State Marshall.

At luncheon, Forrestal was seated at the President's right, according to protocol, but he was left out of the conversation. Truman directed most of his attention to Florida's newly elected Governor Fuller Warren, swapping stories with him and chuckling merrily.

When the drinks were passed, Forrestal took orange juice. The others didn't. But on the second round, the unhappy defense chief blurted that he would join in something stronger. It sounded like a strained effort to become one of the boys, though he continued to sit stiffly at the President's elbow, smiling wanly and saying little.

The press made a big to-do over a statement issued by Press Secretary Charlie Ross that the President had conferred 45 minutes with Forrestal. The truth was, Truman and Forrestal stood together on the lawn chatting briefly while the other guests milled about.

Answering One Letter

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Answering the mail sometimes is almost fun, even when, for the sake of being sensible, you find it necessary to get serious for a moment or two.

This concerns what might be called a sort of group letter, coming from one Henry E. Klaguas of Charleston, West Virginia. It seems okay to use Mr. Klaguas' name, inasmuch as he addressd it jointly to this correspondent, to Drew Pearson and to Westbrook Pegler, all being men involved in the peddling of the printed word, and thereby indicating that he expected his prose to get around.

The hilarious beauty of it is that, had he hunted all through the night, he could hardly have found three characters in the same general field of endeavor with as little in common.

It is highly doubtful, for example, if you could find any given subject of importance in foreign or domestic politics today on which Mr. Pegler and Mr. Pearson would agree. Rather, they would feud happily—if they deigned to notice one another, at all—from opposite ends of the problem.

And this correspondent would, equally happily, disagree with both of them, providing either of them would deign to recognize me. Therein, perhaps, lies what small strength the disagreeing press may boast today.

But on to the comments of Mr. Klaguas:

"Kenneth L. Dixon in his newspaper column today (You must pardon the plug) sets out how Mister Macy, Republican chairman of congressional committee is showing up why $1,500 autos cost the purchaser $2,000 and more," his letter begins. It continues:

"When Mr. Parnell Thomas searched out and showed the country the danger of the communists and fellow travelers in the U. S. through his committee his record was searched from the time his grandfather was born up to and including the later doings and goings and comings of Parnell, and a grand jury indicted him; the communists and fellow travelers who showed up through his congressional investigating committee not being indicted by any grand jury or punished.

"So it would seem in order for at least one of you three columnists (Boy! I must be getting up—well, at least moving around—in the world) to hunt up all the dirt you can about Mister Macy, who is Republican chairman of the congressional committee who dared to bring to light the $500 tips to get an auto. Don't punish the wrongdoers who were brought before the committee, but get after the chairman of the committee for trying to do good; for after all you know he is a Republican. . . ."

There was more to the letter, involving—just to keep politics from rearing up and wiggling its ugly little ears—a Democratic congressman named Andrew Jackson May who got convicted some time back, but that was the gist of the letter. . . .

* * *

Important Oversights.

APART from the bitter humor of putting Pegler, Pearson and yours truly in the same packet (the one believes in things I don't, and the other uses tactics I won't), the point in giving space to this particular letter is that its author seems to have gotten off on the wrong foot on some very important points.

The first is that prosecutors, not newspapermen, do the indicting and judges and juries not newspapermen, do the convicting. And Mr. Klaguas will look long and wearily before he finds a case where a man, indicted and convicted after a newspaper expose, turned out to be innocent!

The second point, of course, is that many of the alleged communists were indicted, and many of the alleged auto-sales wrongdoers now are facing probable indictment.

The third, and most important, point is that hypocrisy flourishes in the highest circles, and just giving lip-service to the business of being a good American—with accompanying headlines — doesn't make any man a really patriotic citizen. If, simultaneously, our American laws are surreptitiously being broken, then the mealy-mouthed lawbreaker should be ferreted out and punished.

No, reader Klaguas, for all my disagreements with the both of them, I don't think you can sensibly accuse either Mr. Pegler or Mr. Pearson of trying to protect communists or criminals. And if you're even hinting that about me, I'll meet you under the Duelling Oak at dawn!

You see, Mr. Pegler tries to expose those he thinks are criminal and Mr. Pearson tries to expose those he thinks are criminal. Me, I just eat my wheaties—but if you couple my name with theirs again in a letter, or anything else, that Duelling Oak business is a date!

IMPLICATIONS that Jesse Jones is in perfect health because he was known to have played poker at 2 a. m. are resented by all poker players.

* * *

It is well known that many followers of the sport are subject to heart murmurs, rapid pulse and spots before the eyes at just about 2 a. m.

* * *

It just happens that Mr. Jones can feel terrible and conceal it. . . . After all he trained in an administration which also contained Wallace and Ickes.

* * *

Incidentally Mr. Ickes has disposed of his stamp collection for $57,585 to the amazement of people who had no idea he collected stamps. . . . They thought he collected heads.

Included in the sale were several sheets autographed by President Truman to Mr. Ickes. . . . None recent.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"It was only a joke. . . . Do they look real to you?"

Listen World

Read the Front Page

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THIS article is for women.

It is the most urgent appeal I have ever sent to women and I wish I could blast it into every feminine home and heart with a loud speaker. It is actually an appeal to save America and yet it can be expressed in four simple words—

READ THE FRONT PAGE!

Many women do not like to read the front page of newspapers. They are particularly indifferent to the news columns and editorials of their daily newspapers. Yet history is being recorded in those columns.

Today America stands at the most critical point in all her history. She is facing the menace of a horror and despair unparalleled in all the ages. Our young men may be forced to leave us when they have barely started their educations and their little homes. The next generation may be doomed. Everything we have loved and cherished in our free and abundant way of life may be swept away.

These are not my words or my opinions. They are the solemn and terrifying words of the greatest leaders of the world, including Mr. Ernest Bevin of Britain.

For a long time this horror has hung in the balance. Now it is so near that its shadow rests over every home. And yet here is the tragic truth in intelligent, literate America with its cultured citizens and its fine standards of living—not one woman in 500 can tell you what was on the front page of her newspaper today or the details of the tragic crisis there depicted.

This is not only a horrifying and shameful fact now; it is a horrifying and shameful fact always.

This might have been excused in times of peace and happiness, but there is no excuse for it today when the destiny of civilization rests on the knowledge of the common citizen.

You have no more right, sister, to read some silly serial or guzzle up some fashion column and ignore the tremendous events reported on the front page and the editorials than you have to spread garbage in front of your home.

Your first and foremost duty after your duty to your family or your job is to read that front page and know what is happening and be able to talk about it and form your own opinions.

For, as I have said before and now repeat, this war will either be caused by your opinions or stopped by your opinions.

3 New London Concerns Move

NEW LONDON — A "moving day" of some proportions involving three business houses was made during the last week.

The Fireland Electric Cooperative moved into its own building, the former Goslee Manufacturing company building on Prospect street; the Snyder Jewelry company owned and operated by Hubert Snyder, and the New London Service Bureau, owned by Henry Parnell, moved into the rooms at 1 East Main street, formerly occupied by the Power company, and the White Furniture company of New Washington, Ohio, taking over the store rooms at 7 East Main street, formerly occupied by Snyder and Parnell.

The White Furniture company is welcomed here, the village having been without a store of this kind for the last 18 years.

Planes Will 'Obliterate' Ohio Town

Dayton Picked As SAC Target

DAYTON —(AP)— The strategic air command of the United States Air Force has selected Dayton as the target for the greatest mass-bombing exercises in peace time history, officials of Wright-Patterson air force base have announced.

Beginning this week, SAC bombers from every section of the nation will converge on Dayton for the exercises.

For the next 60 days, the city's main downtown intersection Main and Third streets, will be the target of make-believe 1,000-pound bombs, air force officials said.

Field officers declined to announce the number of bombers to be involved in the long exercises, but said Dayton was selected as the first in a series of industrial targets.

Selection was made, they said, on the basis of long-range weather forecasts, which indicate adverse weather conditions in this area for the next two months. Air officers said they wanted "bad weather" as part of the simulated bombing attack.

Called "Operation Obliteration" the exercises are planned to correspond with actual combat conditions as much as possible even to the adverse weather conditions

Accuracy of radar bombing operations will be recorded by the air force's new radar bombing scoring squadron—first such mobile unit of its type in the air force.

The scoring unit will be based at Wright-Patterson field Officers said it operates this way.

Effective within a 125-mile radius it picks up approaching bombers and follows them into the target. Through special devices located within the unit, technicians are able to record the instant of release of the 1000-pound bombs from the aircraft.

Other equipment records wind velocity, the plane's special course and altitude Through rapid analysis technicians can determine almost at once and within 15 feet where the bomb theoretically hits.

The technicians then can radio results to the bomber crews before the plane makes its second run over the target.

In the exercises each bomber crew is to make five target runs

The scoring unit is operated by 16 highly trained radar technicians commanded by Capt Joseph F. Flemming of Danvers Mass

The SAC did not give the exact time the practice bombing would start but said it would be carried on throughout the 60-day period with night operations probably figuring in some of the operations.

QUADRUPLE AMPUTEE AT WORK—One of the nation's two quadruple amputees, Frederick Hensel, 30-year-old veteran, drives around his farm near Birmingham, Ala., with his wife, Helen, and his nephew. The hero, who lost both arms and both legs in combat, has just been cited by the Veterans' Administration for his successful efforts in becoming a self-supporting citizen despite his tremendous physical handicap.

King Enjoys 'Tiger's Milk'

Prince Grateful, Tells Secret Recipe

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The year was 1919 It was well past curfew in jolly old London town, and the famed Kit-Kat club was operating outside the law.

Hayden Talbot, the baggy-eyed proprietor (he used to be a newspaperman himself) had ushered out the potential spies and dropped the latch inside

Hayden was happily surrounded by a group of close, thirsty friends, all from the smart set

One of the paying customers was Edward then Prince of Wales who had dropped in for a nightcap after attending the theatre

"Hayden old man" he said, "I believe I'll have a spot of father's favorite —a glass of that fine tigers milk Chilled just right, you know"

Hayden brushed a tangle of red fuzz over his balo spot He was about to reach under the mahogany for the crock of royal spirits when the phone tinkled

It was bad news A tipster was on the wire to inform the innkeeper that the long arm of the law was reaching at the very moment in the direction of the Kit-Kat The suggestion over the line was the equivalent of "scram"

Hayden saw himself worming toward the middle of a fine old tizzy He quickly flicked the lights and led his guests Edward included through a hallway and out a back door And just as the head bobby gave the front gate a good one with his stick

The loudest sigh from the small group huddled in the back alley came from the prince Edward was extremely grateful at having avoided an unpleasant situation and later told his friend, Hayden Talbot he would grant him any favor he wished within reason

Our man didn't have to think long What he would like, said he, was the secret formula for that fine drink called "tiger's milk"

Edward scratched his royal crown and frowned a little It would take a bit of doing he explained, but he would try The recipe had come down in the royal family from the 17th century. It was whispered from one chief royal steward to another. The king himself didn't know what was in the drink except that it had a lot of fresh fruit juices.

Well, it took the prince six months, but he kept his promise

Today the drink is featured by H Talbot, now manager of the Parrot restaurant in Washington. (Formula still secret)

"Tiger's milk" come in two sizes—"Mr Tiger, 60 cents' and "Miss Tiger" (somewhat more tame)—40 cents

Man Wants Oil Drills for It

SHREVEPORT La — (UP) — E L Hunt, who is 65 wanted an oil well, so he went out and drilled one by himself It produces 25 barrels of oil a day

Hunt did the work of a normal crew of five—contractor roughneck truck driver, swamper, driller and tool pusher He took the equipment to the location nearly 12 miles from his home in a trailer

He used an "A"-shaped frame instead of a derrick and a rotary rig powered by a car engine Hunt brought in his producer at 410 feet, 10 days after he started drilling

Altogether, Hunt estimated it cost him $800 to drill the well If he had turned the job over to a contractor, it would have cost about twice as much

Last Time, Says Victim

AKRON —(AP)— A 21-day scarlet fever quarantine ended yesterday for nine members of three families who had been penned up in a 16 by 20-foot trailer-type home.

"Boy, we feel like we could walk a mile," said Mrs. Alberta Muncy as she stepped outside the tiny building and took several deep breaths of fresh air.

The nine were interned after Mrs Muncy went to the wartime housing project to look after Mrs. Alan Conrad's four children while Mrs Conrad went to the hospital to have a baby Mrs. Muncy brought her own two children along.

Then Pvt. William Riley and his wife arrived for an unexpected visit. Before they could leave, one of Mrs Muncy's children became ill with scarlet fever and they all were quarantined "This is the last time I ever want to see another trailer," Mrs Riley said.

Navy Takes To the Air

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Submarines will never fly. But the Navy says that, in another war, they may get in their best licks from the air

The idea is not much beyond the dream stage. But no less a sailor than Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, is doing the dreaming.

It would work out like this. An aircraft carrier has its eye on a tough target So tough that its planes can't get through Neither can other Navy surface ships

So up comes the guided missile department, with a self-propelled load of destruction the size of a B-36 This missile will cross an ocean under its own power It will travel, of course, at speeds faster than sound If it ever gets to the right place it will give the enemy plenty to think about

Raps Lyons' Idea of Organizing Special Society of 'Red-Baiters'

EUGENE LYONS, a professional brand from the burning, has come up with the idea of organizing a society of red baiters. This might have been all right for purposes of discussion, but then he had to get grim and start talking about the good that such an organization might do.

If I have any bigotry in my juices it is a rancid abhorrence of people who cold-bloodedly set out to do unprovoked good to other people, because all the immortal malevolents who set our nation to hating in 1929 and have kept us at a kicking boil till now were do-goods.

They are a breed conceived in malice and dedicated to the proposition that contentment is a curse. They thrive in troublous times on frightened souls and, just as the parson and the cop would find themselves professionally obsolete in a world of total peace and piety, they must have woe to feed upon or die.

I refer you to the roster of hot-eyed provocators who have called themselves reformers in our time, and put it to you whether men of good will would intentionally sign up with any new lodge consecrated to the purposes which they professed.

Mr. Lyons is a back-slid bolo of the early New York crop who went to Moscow for the United Press and came hurrying home yelling that the bolsheviks were given to impure speech and committed to holocaust.

He wrote an expose called "Assignment in Utopia," which has become a library book for cosmic oracles, and another called "The Red Decade," likewise reliable for reference but not privileged matter like the invaluable five-foot shelf of the Dies and Thomas committees of Congress.

His acquaintance among the New York and Washington communists was extensive and his hatred of his old comrades purifies and renews itself as he pursues his career and they pursue him.

Other objections aside, I firmly rejected Mr. Lyons' invitation to join his society of red-baiters on the further ground that if it ever should show any signs of life, we would be invaded and taken over by the communists themselves.

The mere fact that the society was by name devoted to red-baiting would not deter the comrades.

They have filtered into many church organizations whose titles gave them fine deceptive coloration and there was a period when even the congressional committee on un-American activities served the Kremlin faithfully and well.

Hitlerism was an un-American activity. Communism was its foe. By promoting communism the committee harassed the Nazis. So voila! Why not?

The title of the society of red-baiters might seem prohibitive. But in three months it would be the society to bait red-baiters with an executive secretary drawn from the newspaper guild, the furriers' union or Hollywood and Mr. Lyons would have another lesson in his endless education.

Pleasant Way of Getting Up Each Morning Is World's Greatest Need

NEW YORK—(AP)—The biggest need today is a pleasant way to get up in the morning.

In this respect England is the most civilized country on the globe. There the traveler is awakened by a rap on the door, and somebody brings a cup of hot tea in and sets it by his bed.

After ten or fifteen minutes of sipping this relaxing brew, a man is reconciled to the dismal prospect of rising and facing a rueful world.

I tried to adopt this pleasant practice in my own household. But after the first four days Francis yawned one morning and said:

"Well, Rover boy, you've been pampered long enough. It's your turn to make the tea today."

That ended that. I'm so helpless in the kitchen I can't boil water without burning it.

The modern alarm clock, the poor man's substitute for the sunrise, in any form is the most intolerable gadget contrived by a machine-worshiping age. It is far worse than a hammer blow on the head.

Once I bought a swiss musical alarm clock, thinking this would ease the wear and tear on jangled nerves.

It played the "Blue Danube." The first week or so it wasn't bad. After that it slowly began to instill a collective nausea, so that today if I hear a waltz at any hour, day or night, I have the sensation of a workhorse undergoing the dry heaves. Somehow Strauss and the cold gray dawn don't go together any better than lavender and old snuff.

Hundreds of ways have been devised to get up on the right side of the bed in the morning. But I don't know of any that work well.

I know of people who go to sleep with a pot of coffee on a hot plate by their bedside. I know others who leave their radios turned on or are called by telephone. They all still hate to get up.

The most ingenious contrivance I know of was rigged up by a screwball friend. He tied upside down on his bedstead a vacuum bottle full of hot coffee. Hanging from it was a tube with a clamp on the end.

When he woke up, my friend would reach up a drowzy hand, put the tube in his mouth, flip back the clamp and lie there peacefully drinking the life-giving fluid. But now he's back on alarm clocks.

"One morning the stopper came out of the bottle," he explained grimly. "Did you ever get woke up by a hot coffee shower?"

At a party the other night I was complaining about the daily battle I had getting out of bed.

"My husband had the same trouble," said a pretty young matron, "but I found a way to get him up and to work on time."

"Yes?"

"Well, I had to get up first to change the baby," she said. "One morning I accidentally laid the diaper on the pillow beside my husband. He got up immediately.

"Then I started putting the diaper on the pillow deliberately. My husband never was late after that. That worked for a long time, but now I am having the same old trouble with him."

"What happened?"

"Our baby," said the lady, "is growing up."

Councilmen Boost City Funds

OK Appropriations Totaling $27,700

Appropriations totaling $27,700, primarily to meet payrolls in the street and garbage department in December, were approved by city council last night.

The street department got the bulk of the money, $10,000, and the garbage department was given $8,700.

Other appropriations included $3,500 for an aerial topographical survey of the Clear Fork project, $5,000 for engineering and other incidental expenses in connection with the Clear Fork project and $500 for Attorney Robert Ross, who aided City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch in preparing the traffic law recodification.

MEASURE READY

The recodification is complete and council is in the process of sturying the bill, which will include provisions empowering the traffic commissioner to create a oneway traffic system in Mansfield.

Resolutions transferring $1,720 were approved. A $1,500 transfer was made in sewer department fund. $200 in the fire department, $15 for the sanitary sewer department, and $5 in the municipal court fund.

The legislators authorized the service safety director to advertise for insurance for the city's motor vehicles. The present policy expires Feb. 5.

The city engineer was requested to draw up plans and specifications for creating two new city sewer districts, one for South Boulevards and the other for the Harvard avenue area.

The latter bill is a legal necessity for the purpose of assessments for the construction of sewer mains in these two districts.

Auxiliary Enlists 29

The first instruction period of the Auxiliary Highway Patrol was held last night at the American Legion home with about 40 members present.

Among the 19 subjects to be studied by the auxiliary are first aid, traffic control, mob psychology, traffic law, identification of killed and injured, and transportation of injured persons.

The object of the Auxiliary Highway Patrol is to train and equip a group of men in each county to handle any kind of emergency. Such emergencies would include tornadoes, floods, fires, earthquakes, wrecks, explosions, or any other kind of catastrophe.

The unit consists of members of the American Legion. They are to receive 40 hours of instruction. Meetings are to be held each week with Tuesday set as a tentative meeting night.

Orchestra to Offer Popular Program

A popular symphonic "menu" for the music lover has been prepared for the Mansfield Civic Music association membership tonight by the Baltimore Symphony orchestra.

The orchestra, generally recognized as one of the country's major symphonic organizations, will appear in the second concert at 8:15 p. m. today at the John Simpson auditorium. Appearing as conductor of the orchestra will be Reginald Stewart, Scottish-born musician of note who has led the orchestra for the past seven seasons.

Also appearing as concertmaster and assistant conductor will be Ilya Schkolnik, now in his fifth season with the Baltimore Symphony.

Leading off with the Ballet suite, "The Wise Virgins," written by Johann Sebastian Bach and orchestrated by William Walton, the orchestra will move into the second portion of the symphony with the toneful and dramatic "Symphony in D Minor" by Cesar Franck.

Immediately after intermission the audience will hear the work of a young American composer, "Fantasia for Strings" by Peter Mennin. Mennin studied at Oberlin Conservatory of Music before serving with the Air Corps in World War II. Coming back from service he continued his musical studies at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., where he received his bachelor of music and master of music degrees.

Mennin now is an instructor in composition at the Julliard School of Music, New York City.

Ending the concert with one of the universally best liked symphonies ever written, the orchestra will offer Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," the rhythmical favorite of both children and grown-ups.

City To Pay Water Damage

City council last night authorized settlement of claims against the city totaling more than $27,000 for approximately $3,300.

The law firm of Anderson, Will and O'Donnell, which is handling the claims for the city, had requested permission to make the settlements.

A letter from Attorney James Will asked council to approve the out-of-court settlements. Will was employed to assist the city solicitor in handling the case.

Claimants, the amounts they asked, and the proposed settlements follow:

Angelas Kaperonis, asked $640, settle for $150; S. S. Kresge company, asked $1,265, settle for $250; Margaret Bower and M. D. Ward jr., asked $2,500, settle for $300; Dale Ward, asked $500, settle for $100; Vaughn Bates, asked for $9,025, settle for $1,000; James Dickson, asked $643, settle for $250; Scattergood and Son, asked for $12,500, settle for $1,250.

ASKS $860

Council referred to the claims committee a claim from Dr. E. A. Benning, 185 West Third street, for $860 for water damage to his basement.

The letter declared that water damaged the floor, clothing, rugs and furniture and once filled the basement with three inches of water, which four people bailed out by hand.

For five weeks the water department was unable to find the source of the leak, the letter stated, although it attempted on three different occasions to locate it. The leak has been repaired.

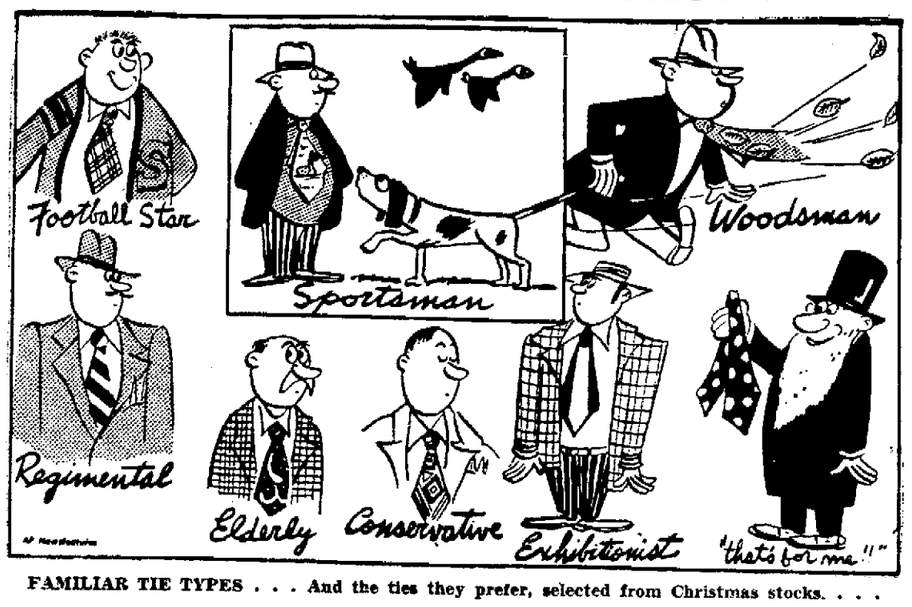
Wear a worldly dress for brilliant winter evenings, suggests the November issue of Charm. Pictured in the "Brides and Beauty" issue is a striking bare-shouldered dress with a gilt-edged quilted taffeta bodice. Its bouffant, double-net skirt is calm, moves easily, is poised and graceful as you walk. Its filmy stole draped about your face and shoulders give added allure.

IS HE FIT TO BE TIED?



FAMILIAR TIE TYPES . . . And the ties they prefer, selected from Christmas stocks. . . .

If you're going to buy a Christmas tie for the man in your life, why not give him something he will wear?

Since women are expected to buy $36 million worth of Christmas ties this season, anything to improve their selectivity would be a sound economic step, says Horace Beck, who has observed feminine tie-buying habits with pain for a number of years, as sales manager of one of the country's largest cravat companies.

All you have to do, Mr. Beck advises the ladies, is to study your man's personality. Here are his tips on tie types:

1—If he's a high school football star, give him a bright plaid tie to let the girls know he's smart about style as well as about lateral passes.

2—If he's conservative, knows just where everything is and never misses his train, he'll appreciate a tie with a small, all-over pattern, preferably with neat geometric figures.

3—If he's a cheerful exhibitionist who bids six on a four-card suit, he'll feel right at home in one of the new, brightly colored panel ties with large geometric figures.

4—If he's a sportsman and actually enjoys getting up at dawn Sundays to go fishing, let him tell the world about it by wearing a tie featuring fish, pheasants, rifles or reels.

5—If he's a woodsman who knows a maple from an oak without using a book, test him on a woodsman's tie such as some gems of American forestry, designed by Cheney, which feature oak, sumac, willow, maple and many other kinds of leaves. These are guaranteed to puzzle his less informed friends. (Note: When the tie is bought, the clerk will tell you the name of the leaf.)

6—If he's elderly, dignified and likes his port after dinner, give him a Paisley to show him you know a fine old tradition when you see it, too.

7—Finally, if he's a regimental stripe man, chances are he's been one all his life and won't change now. This type is famous for its stubbornness, and all you can do is to get him more regimental stripes.

Decorating the Small Bath Requires Special Planning

By MARIAN WEST

THE BATHROOM is here to stay," according to a recent article in Home Desirable.

This is probably true in view of the evidence that the bathroom is an institution that has been with man since the first crack of civilization. Remember, that great and irrefutable bathroom principle, "Cleanliness Is Next to Godliness," was indelibly etched on a fine bonded clay tablet in the earliest days of man's development.

Of course some of the early nations that pioneered civilization were not particularly Godly, but the records show that no Egyptian soothsayer, nor Greek politician, nor Roman senator, ever appeared in public or approached his oracles without first enjoying a perfumed bath, a clean shave and maybe a change of underwear.

Today the trend is toward bathrooms for living. Homeowners, architects and home builders all agree that the bathroom should be well planned, colorful, inviting and above all suited to the needs of the family.

"White is still the most popular in bathroom fixtures here in Mansfield," said the owner of a retail sales establishment. "This may be true because of the greater expense involved in colored fixtures, he added.

"Colored tile walls are often used to add life to the rooms," he continued, "with peach and dubonnet the most generally accepted here."

There was once a time when homemakers were afraid of even suggesting that their bathrooms be finished with wallpaper. Today, however, there is no reluctance at all in choosing this modern form of decoration, for it can easily be cleaned with a soft cloth moistened with soapy water.

Wallpapers add gaiety and lightness and complement or set off the treatment of the lower portion of many bathroom walls as well as the bathroom fixtures themselves. It is possible to use more striking patterns in the bathroom for the area is small. There are luxurious marble-like papers, brilliant florals, ship or sea-shell designs, or even the so-called conversation prints. All of these can be had in either scenic or all-over patterns.

Decorating the small bath requires particular planning. Plenty of color may be fine in the rest of the home, but the small bath should be kept simple and done in one or two carefully selected shades, according to many decorators.

The Tile Council of America suggests that you plan the bathroom walls and floor as a background rather than as the dominant room element. Major color interest can then come from towels, shower curtain and bath mat. A change of shade in these will give the effect of a redecorating job.

Gray-blues and blue-greens add to the apparent size of a room and are therefore particularly suited to the small bath. Red, red-orange and yellow-green are too intense and seem to hem in the room.

Bathroom design can be kept simple by finishing the ceramic tile wainscot with a cap of the same color, rather than black or a contrasting shade. This plan helps make the room appear larger and more restful, says the report.

Woodwork in the small bath should be painted the same color as the walls. If there is a window over the tub, its sill can be finished in the same color tile as the wainscot, thus fitting it into the color scheme and waterproofing it at the same time.

When two colors are used in the bath, the lighter should be for walls and the darker for the floor. A dark floor seems more restful underfoot.

At present the trend is toward two bathrooms in every home. I believe records will substantiate the charge that one bathroom has been the cause of more family word-wars than any other single factor in domestic life.

For Wednesday, December 1
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

The prospects are excellent for progress in exceptional ways or through the astute use of unusual gifts or talents, in which the higher forces or faculties may be the driving force. Intuition, imagination, idealism or inspiration may be the means of putting over novel expression in art, literature, drama, speaking, or in the demonstration of charm and beauty in purely personal relations. Nevertheless, there may be disposition to splurge or overplay the part, with loss or regret through extravagance or emotional indulgences. With brakes on success.

IF IT IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of exceptional experience or adventures in the higher expressions of faculties, skills; talents and inclinations of a subtle or unique quality. Imagination or fancy may play a part, urged on by an emotional or dramatic drive for the unusual. And this to a degree beyond the practical, with a lavish or unjustifiable inclination to waste funds, substance, and energies. With an eye to thrift and moderation in all expressions there may be singular rewards, with subtle pleasures and enjoyments of spiritual aspect.

A child born on this day may be richly endowed with talents and skills of an exceptional nature, imbued by poetry, music, art, literature and drama. In its inspirational quest, it may be prone to lavish its energies and its funds.

A new liquid masking tape greatly reduces time and effort in painting by keeping paint, lacquer and other coatings off wood, glass, metal and similar surfaces. The masking solution dries in about ten seconds and you are then ready to paint adjoining surfaces. Christmas Cigar Tips For Women

If every wife had a crystal ball to gaze into during these desperate Christmas-shopping days, the world would be a better place for husbands.

Under the holly bough there'd be no more gaily-packed sport shirts (wrong size), ribbon-wrapped ties (wrong pattern) or prettily-boxed cigars (wrong blend, wrong shape, wrong brand)!

The last Yuletide offence, picking the wrong cigar,' is inexcusable because women with ingenuity can make the right choice without aid from crystal balls, mind readers, fortune tellers or mental telepathy. All they need is a system.

And this year, for the first time, the Cigar Institute of America has come across with such a system for gals who want to buy Xmas cigars, but don't know where to begin.

The experts say the "right smoke" for a man can be selected in one of three ways: by using intuition; by spying on his brand, or by practicing good, old-fashioned intelligence.

The intuition method is least successful. You know what happens when a man uses intuition to get a woman's glove size.

The brand system requires snooping in ash trays, peeking in humidors or directly questioning him. It's the simplest-even though it may spoil the Christmas surprise.

But the intelligence method is always effective. It involves analyzing the man and his personality, thus figuring out accurately the cigar he would logically smoke. Do it on the basis of three criteria—taste, size and cost.

First, take taste. If a man is easy-going, an habitual smoker, a food lover and steady through-the-day smoker, he'll want a "medium-full" blend. If he smokes cigars only occasionally, has a light appetite is tense or high strung, he'll like a "light-mild" blend. If he's the worldly type, relaxes completely, really concentrates on his after dinner cigar, he'll want a "full-bodied" blend.

In the size category, there are three most-popular shapes, perfectos (short, full and shaped on both ends), panetelas (straight and slim) and coronas (straight and large, suited for after dinner smoking).

If he's an all-day smoker he'll usually like the perfecto. Young, fashion-conscious men take panetelas. Gourmets and after-dinner smokers are happiest with coronas, say the experts.

The cost is important, and if a woman wants to pick the cigar her husband has learned to enjoy, she should buy the type he'd be most likely to afford for himself. He's probably confined himself to one general price bracket and has accustomed himself to the cigars in it. Remember, expensive cigars aren't necessarily the best buys in terms of smoking contentment.

When she's analyzed her husband's type, a woman can put her clues to the selection problem on the experienced shoulders of a tobacconist ... and be almost certain his choice for the Christmas cigars won't be a poor one!

With holidays near at hand, it's time to talk turkey, says Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods consumer kitchens. And here she gives you her favorite recipe for the festivities.

ROAST STUFFED TURKEY

12 to 15 pound turkey
Salt and pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup vitaminized margarine

Singe bird, remove pin feathers, and wash outside and inside of bird; dry well. Sprinkle inside cavities with salt and pepper. Fill body and neck cavities with Parsley Stuffing (do not pack) and close the openings by sewing with heavy thread or fastening with skewers. Fold wing tips under back of bird. Tie ends of legs together with string. Clean giblets and neck. Cover with boiling water, add salt and margarine; cover and simmer 1 to 2 hours. Place turkey on side on rack in roasting pan. Brush with liquid used in cooking giblets. Cover with a cloth dipped in this liquid and baste frequently. Roast in slow oven (300°F.) allowing 18 to 20 minutes per pound. Turn turkey to other side and then turn breast side up after ½ of total roasting time.

Parsley stuffing: Melt 1 cup margarine in skillet, add 3½ qts. dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup grated onion, 4 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons celery salt, and ½ teaspoons pepper; saute about 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add 1½ to 2 cups bouillon to bread mixture gradually to moisten slightly. Add parsley. Yield: sufficient stuffing for a 12 to 15 pound turkey. Garnish with whole apricots and small bunches of grapes.

New lights for the Christmas tree are made so that each light socket is safety-sealed, top and bottom, with sealing washers that are an integral part of the Vinylite plastic clip and also hold each socket in the desired position. The new safety-seal greatly reduces the fire hazard of metallic tinsel tree decorations coming in contact with metal parts of the socket. The wire is also insulated with Vinylite plastic.

Sweden Reluctant to Enter West Europe Peace Alliance

Spain Out, Two Others Undecided

Swedes Oppose Military Pact

PARIS, — (UP) — Denmark, Norway and possibly Italy and Portugal ultimately may join the United States, Canada and the five western union nations in a north Atlantic security pact

But none of these is expected to come in at the start. Sweden not only is unlikely to come in at all, but is trying to dissuade Denmark and Norway from joining. Spain also is out.

That is the position as representatives of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg prepare to set up the greatest peacetime military alliance in history.

The big western powers had hoped to bring all three Scandinavian powers into the alliance at the beginning. U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall spent a lot of time hammering out the ground-work for the pact, especially in trying to widen its membership, during his two months here before returning to Washington for talks with President Truman.

One of Marshall's last conferences in Paris was with Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange. Lange gave Marshall this disappointing news.

1. There is no possibility in the foreseeable future that Sweden will join a north Atlantic pact.

2. Both Norway and Denmark would like to join at the start, but neither is prepared to make the "break" with Sweden that such a move would entail.

3. Eventually, maybe next spring or summer, after the pact is a reality, Norway and Denmark may find it possible to join the Atlantic pact without seriously hurting their traditional relations with Sweden.

Lange made clear that both Norway and Denmark have been anxious for a long time to join in the political and military plans of the western union. The memory of nazi aggression and occupation is too fresh for them to share Sweden's certainty that they could remain neutral in any future war.

But at the same time, by tradition, history, geography and normal inclination they are reluctant to split the Scandinavian bloc.

Sweden, it was learned, wants a military defense union of the three Scandinavian countries rather than any link with the western union. But Sweden insists as a condition of such a pact that in case of a general war, each country would remain neutral unless attacked.

Marshall, during his many talks with the Scandinavians, spoke frankly, but never threateningly. Sources close to the Swedes, for instance, said he always displayed the greatest sympathy and understanding for Sweden's position, even though he made it plain he thought it misguided.

Marshall hopes to build a north Atlantic pact which includes not only the western union nucleus of the key countries of Europe, but also one that secures both flanks— Scandinavia and the Mediterranean

Child Starts Own Program For Sharing Parents' Cash

NEW YORK —(AP)—Ronnie Sue Moskowitz, an angelic-looking four-year-old with big brown eyes, has her own share-the-wealth plan

Her parents, Mr and Mrs. Stanley Moskowitz, are the victims.

A couple of months ago, mama caught the little blonde peeling $5 bills from daddy's bankroll and tossing them out a window of their Brooklyn apartment.

Grateful passersby pocketed eight of them before mama put an economy program into effect.

Last Saturday, Ronnie threw two diamond rings, valued at $1,500, into the garbage because "mama wasn't wearing them."

To make matters worse, the maid dumped the garbage into the incinerator

Daddy, proprietor of several stores, singed his hands in an unsuccessful attempt to fish the rings out of the incinerator. Then he went to a night club with his wife and friends to "celebrate" his 25th birthday anniversary

Sunday, two policemen poked around in the ashes and recovered the rings Daddy said he would take them to a jeweler to learn the amount of damage.

Sweden Reluctant to Enter West Europe Peace Alliance

Spain Out, Two Others Undecided

Swedes Oppose Military Pact

PARIS, — (UP) — Denmark, Norway and possibly Italy and Portugal ultimately may join the United States, Canada and the five western union nations in a north Atlantic security pact

But none of these is expected to come in at the start. Sweden not only is unlikely to come in at all, but is trying to dissuade Denmark and Norway from joining. Spain also is out.

That is the position as representatives of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg prepare to set up the greatest peacetime military alliance in history.

The big western powers had hoped to bring all three Scandinavian powers into the alliance at the beginning U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall spent a lot of time hammering out the ground-work for the pact, especially in trying to widen its membership, during his two months here before returning to Washington for talks with President Truman.

One of Marshall's last conferences in Paris was with Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange. Lange gave Marshall this disappointing news:

1. There is no possibility in the foreseeable future that Sweden will join a north Atlantic pact.

2. Both Norway and Denmark would like to join at the start, but neither is prepared to make the "break" with Sweden that such a move would entail.

3 Eventually, maybe next spring or summer, after the pact is a reality, Norway and Denmark may find it possible to join the Atlantic pact without seriously hurting their traditional relations with Sweden.

Lange made clear that both Norway and Denmark have been anxious for a long time to join in the political and military plans of the western union. The memory of nazi aggression and occupation is too fresh for them to share Sweden's certainty that they could remain neutral in any future war.

But at the same time, by tradition, history, geography and normal inclination they are reluctant to split the Scandinavian bloc.

Sweden, it was learned, wants a military defense union of the three Scandinavian countries rather than any link with the western union. But Sweden insists as a condition of such a pact that in case of a general war, each country would remain neutral unless attacked.

Marshall, during his many talks with the Scandinavians, spoke frankly, but never threateningly. Sources close to the Swedes, for instance, said he always displayed the greatest sympathy and understanding for Sweden's position, even though he made it plain he thought it misguided

Marshall hopes to build a north Atlantic pact which includes not only the western union nucleus of the key countries of Europe, but also one that secures both flanks- Scandinavia and the Mediterranean.

Child Starts Own Program For Sharing Parents' Cash

NEW YORK —(AP)—Ronnie Sue Moskowitz, an angelic-looking four-year-old with big brown eyes, has her own share-the-wealth plan.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs Stanley Moskowitz, are the victims.

A couple of months ago, mama caught the little blonde peeling $5 bills from daddy's bankroll and tossing them out a window of their Brooklyn apartment.

Grateful passersby pocketed eight of them before mama put an economy program into effect.

Last Saturday, Ronnie threw two diamond rings, valued at $1,500, into the garbage because "mama wasn't wearing them."

To make matters worse, the maid dumped the garbage into the incinerator.

Daddy, proprietor of several stores, singed his hands in an unsuccessful attempt to fish the rings out of the incinerator. Then he went to a night club with his wife and friends to "celebrate" his 25th birthday anniversary

Sunday, two policemen poked around in the ashes and recovered the rings. Daddy said he would take them to a jeweler to learn the amount of damage.

Fewer Job Openings Reported

Job openings in Mansfield for October were lower than any other month since last May, reports C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment Office here. In August there were 1,040 openings, with 870 in September, and only 720 in October.

Half of the opportunities for men were made up by the demand for unskilled workers, Handley said. Almost all of these were for a 40 hour week, paying from $1.00 to $1.38 an hour, Handley added.

Meanwhile, accountant and auditing positions, paying from $3727 to $5,232 a year, were announced open by the United States Civil Service Commission. No written examination is required but all applicants must have had at least a total of four years general and specialized experience.

The place of employment will be in various Federal agencies of the Sixth U. S. Civil Service Region, which consists of the states of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky.

Application forms may be obtained at the Mansfield Post Office or the State Employment Office at 54 North Diamond street. Deadline for applications is Dec. 16, 1948.

Says Truman Win Stolen

MANCHESTER, N. H. — (UP) — Publisher William Loeb of the politically-independent Manchester Union charged in a front-page editorial yesterday that President Truman's victory in the Nov. 2 election was "stolen."

Loeb, who supported Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, said that "corrupt bosses of big city Democratic machines" stole the key electoral votes of Ohio, Illinois and California for Mr. Truman.

He demanded recounts in those three states and said that a change of their electoral votes to Dewey would give the Republican candidate the presidency by one electoral vote.

Loeb based his claim on what he said was the recent discovery of 10,518 uncounted Dewey votes in Cleveland, cutting President Truman's Ohio plurality to 3,444 votes. "An honest recount" of other big city votes in the three states would easily swing them to Dewey, he said.

Mighty Michigan Football's 'Team of Year'

Year's Last Grid Poll Has Notre Dame 2nd

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mighty Michigan is college football's "team of the year."

As a climax to a series of dazzling successes, the Wolverines held the No. 1 place today in the Associated Press' final poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

They beat out their old rival for national honors—Notre Dame—in balloting that gave them 3,448 points to 3,325 for the Irish.

In the final regular season poll of 1947 it was Notre Dame on top with Michigan a close second.

This time, however, the unbeaten and untied Wolverines received 192 first place votes of the 387 casting ballots while the Irish drew only 97.

Notre Dame will try for its 22nd straight victory and its 28th game without a defeat Saturday against Southern California at Los Angeles.

North Carolina, with only a tie against its record, moved up to third position with 2,281 votes in the final standings as Army, surprisingly tied 21-21 by Navy, fell from third to sixth place with 1,799 ballots.

BEARS ARE FOURTH

California held fourth with an even 2,000 and was followed in order by Oklahoma, 1,906, Army, Northwestern, 1,421, Georgia, 879, Oregon, 769 and Southern Methodist, 683.

Michigan completed its second perfect season and retained its Western conference championship. The team's achievement was a credit to Coach Ben Oosterbaan, who succeeded Fritz Crisler when the latter stepped up to athletic director at the end of the last campaign.

Seven of the first 10 will see action in post-season bowl games.

North Carolina and Oklahoma clash in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. California and Northwestern are Rose Bowl foes at Pasadena. Oregon and Southern Methodist meet in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Georgia opposes Texas, which didn't land in the first 20, in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Professional Grid Draft To Be Spotty

CHICAGO — (UP) — Pro football's major leagues meet next month for their annual drafts of college football stars, and it's a spotty crop they'll have to harvest.

There are plenty of good quarterbacks and centers, but as one scout put it, "Fullbacks? There aren't any."

Likewise there were few tackles regarded as good professional prospects, but a fair lineup of guards, halfbacks and ends.

It was easy to pick the probable first 20 choices in the National football league and All American conference drafts, and the player to be honored with the prized number one draft spot was a standout.

For that could be only Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's flashy back who has the reputation for ability to do anything with a football.

Walker, a single wing halfback, would be a prize for any club and most coaches believed he could shift to the "T" formation with ease.

Behind Walker the probable second choice was Chuck Bednarik Pennsylvania's giant center who has showed crack defensive ability.

Several outstanding quarterbacks were up for the plum-picking including Johnny Raugh of Georgia, Frank Tripucka of Notre Dame, Bob De Moss of Purdue, Bobby Thomason of VMI and George Blanda of Kentucky.

Two top tailbacks stood out in the collegiate season, Shorty McWilliams of Mississippi State and George Taliaferro of Indiana. Both will be prizes for such teams as the Pittsburgh Steelers, Detroit Lions, and Green Bay Packers who use a single wing attack.

Top-flight linemen with the best reputations, in pro circles were ends Jim Powell of Tennessee, Sam Tamburo of Penn State, Rebel Steiner of Alabama, and George Brodnax of Georgia Tech, guards Rod Franz of California and Bill Fischer of Notre Dame, centers Bill Walsh of Notre Dame and Dan Dworsky of Michigan, and tackle Len Szafryn of North Carolina.

All the players drafted won't shift into pro ball next fall. For instance, Walker has another year of collegiate eligibility but his class graduates and he thus is eligible for the draft. The same holds for Taliaferro.

A lot of other stars who finish this year already have been drafted. Included in this group are guard Marty Wendell of Notre Dame, quarterback Pete Elliott of Michigan and center Alex Sarkisian of Northwestern.

Browns Eye Clean Slate

CLEVELAND —(INS)— With the San Francisco 49'ers barely disposed of, the Champion Cleveland Browns of the All-America Conference were faced with a new challenge today.

Their aim now is an undefeated untied season.

Coach Paul Brown told the squad yesterday:

"We've come a long way and I wish you fellows would contine to bear down for two more weeks. I'd like to finish without a defeat. That hasn't happened very often in professional football."

The Browns close their regular schedule Sunday at Brooklyn and then will face the eastern representative, either Buffalo or Baltimore, in the conference play-off game.

At Full Strength

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The John Carroll Blue Streaks for the first time this season are expected to be at full strength when they meet Canisiu college of Buffalo in the second annual Knights of Columbus Great Lakes bowl game in Cleveland Sunday.

Charley Keller Back In Shape

NEW YORK — (INS) — The New York Yankees had assurances from Charley Keller today that the veteran outfielder is in good shape and has no intention of quitting baseball.

Keller played below his old form last year following the partial removal of a disc from the base of his spine in 1947, and the fracture of two bones in his left hand early in 1948.

Today, however, "The Killer" sent word from his home in Frederick, Md., that he feels as strong as he did two years ago and that he expects to have a good year next season.

'Russ Cooke Fund' May Reach $1500 When All Money Is In

ASHLAND—Russell Cooke, Ashland college football player who sustained a broken neck in the final game of the season, is piling up a sizable account at a local bank while he lies in bed in Crile hospital, Cleveland.

While Crile physicians battle to restore Cooke's health, his teammates and Ashland business men have solicited funds and staged benefits which are adding sums to the bank account. It is expected to go well over $1 000 or even up to $1,500 before the promotional events are completed.

Friday night's benefit basketball game between the Myers Pumps and Urschel's Insurance team of Mansfield, netted more than $250 for the "Russ Cooke Fund." Teammates had solicited the down town district throughout the day for additional funds and the college students added their share. Coach George Donges of Ashland college stated today that generous donations are also being made to the fund in New London where Cooke was a high school athlete and in Mansfield where Cooke and his wife, Phyllis, nurse at Mansfield General hospital, made their home prior to the accident.

Mrs. Cooke, who has remained at her husband's bedside since the accident, may gain permission to become her husband's special nurse at the Crile hospital this week.

Only Three Veterans Back In Plymouth Cage Squad

PLYMOUTH—Only three veterans will be among the ten man varsity basketball squad which will represent Plymouth high school in the Richland county league opener tonight at Lucas.

Only one of the three, six-foot, one-inch forward, Desmond Donnenwirth, was a regular last year. He was one of the leading scorers in the county and this year's team will undoubtedly be built around him.

Other lettermen on the team are Roger Daron, a five-eight guard, and Ronald "Trigger" Trauger, a five-ten forward. Trauger is a cool, steady ball handler, while Daron is small and fast, with a dead eye for set shots from far back on the floor. Both are seniors.

COMPLETE LINEUP

Rounding out the starting lineup tonight will probably be Larry Schreck at the other guard and Lou Steele at center. Steele, a six-one center, is a fine pivot man on offense. Schreck, only a sophomore is coming fast, and will probably pair with Daron at guard, according to Coach Dick McMullen.

Others on the varsity squad are: Louie Root, five-nine sophomore forward; Jack Root, 5-11 junior forward; Bob Schreck, 5-11 sophomore guard; Wayne Mathews,, 6-3 junior center; and Hulbert Metchalf, 5-9 senior guard.

Other boys out for the squad are Tim Burrer, Glenn Burrer, Harvey Wilson, Richard Lowery, Kenny Donnathon, Alan Ford, Larry Hampton, Joe Kennedy, Bud DeVeney, David Sims, Vale Reed, Art Jacobs, Leon Collins, Bob Echelberry, and Bill Taulbee.

Three Eagles Top Loop Averages

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)— Three Philadelphia Eagles perched atop key averages were powerful reasons today for the Quakers' capture of their second eastern division title in two years.
